400,000 Casualties Inflicted On Germans in Northern France

Killed Overseas

Fit. Sgt. (B) Donald James McAllister, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McAllister, 9528 102nd Avenue, who was killed overseas this week, according to word received by his parents. The 29-year-old pilot enlisted in Edmonton in 1941, and went overseas in the fall of last year. It is believed he was not killed in action but full details have not yet been received. Burial took place in England on Thursday. Well known in the city for his activities with the YMCA, Fit. Sgt. McAllister was accounted there at the time of his enlistment. He was a district manager for The Edmonton Bulletin for several years. He attended Alex Taylor and Victoria High schools. A brother, Alvin, is serving overseas with the Canadian Army.

CCF Council Regrets Parley Given Hoist

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The closing session of a CCF national council meeting today passed a resolution regretting an announcement by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that the Dominion-provincial conference proposed this year was to be postponed indefinitely.

The council said it was "highly undesirable" that urgent constitutional issues should remain unresolved.

The council approved a draft federal election manifesto which will go before a national convention in October.

David Lewis, national secretary, said that following council decisions CCF organization and plans now were completed to go into operation whenever a federal election is called.

TO RAISE FUNDS

"Definite plans have been laid for the raising of funds and for organizational expansion in preparation for the coming year," said Lewis.

George Beurling

Goes to States

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Fit-Lt. George Beurling, Canadian fighter ace, left Montreal last night for New York with preliminary papers for U.S. citizenship in his pocket. Beurling, who shot down 32 planes while serving with the RAF and RCAF, said he had always wanted to be an American citizen and now is his chance.

British Making

Gains in Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 31.—(CP)—British troops sloping through monsoon rains made further gains in the Chin Hills of Burma, headquarters announced today. Patrols on the road to Mandalay stabbed south of Pinbun and in the Kari area. Air limited air operations to clearing the central Burma.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Allied armies in northern France have inflicted more than 400,000 casualties on the Nazis since D-Day, General Eisenhower reported today, including the destruction of 25 enemy divisions and the severe mauling of 18 additional divisions.

In a report on operations in northern France from the landings June 6 up to Aug. 25, Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force, reported that the German 7th Army and the newly formed 5th Panzer Army have been "decisively defeated," dragging down with them the bulk of the fighting strength of the enemy's 1st and 15th armies.

He added that among the costs to the Allies of this achievement was the loss of 3,000 planes by the air force in supporting the ground operations.

City Says:

Ottawa Plans End Lease on Fair Grounds

Civic officials Thursday received information from the Department of National Defence for Air that the department was desirous of terminating at the end of this year the present lease on the Exhibition Grounds and sections of Borden Park now in use as a RCAF station.

It was intimated in the communication that one other government department might be interested in acquiring some, if not all of the facilities, and premises at the grounds and park.

The communication intimating the desire to terminate the lease, written by H. F. Gordon, deputy minister of the department of national defence for air, said there was nothing definite concerning the taking over of the grounds by any other department, but suggested that representatives of other departments would communicate with civic officials.

WOULD HAVE FAIR

Charles E. Wilson, manager of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, stated Thursday that the usual operation of the association, including a summer fair, would be carried through next year if the grounds are returned to the city at Dec. 31.

Hon. Brig. Nelligan Is Leaving Army

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Hon. Brig. C. L. Nelligan, Bishop of Pembroke, is relinquishing the appointment of principal Roman Catholic chaplain of the Canadian Army and will be succeeded by Hon. Lt. Col. R. C. MacGillivray of Picton, N.S., with rank of honorary brigadier, it was announced last night.

Brig. Nelligan, a former chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of Edmonton, has been principal Roman Catholic chaplain since the outbreak of war, when he was commissioned as honorary lieutenant-colonel. He was later promoted to full colonel and assumed his present rank in February, 1943.

Brig. MacGillivray served as a chaplain in the First Great War and returned to Canada in 1919, assuming clerical duties in various Nova Scotia towns. At the outbreak of this war he re-enlisted to take appointment as district Roman Catholic chaplain for Military District No. 6 at Halifax.

Tender Deception

Mother of Russ Colombo Dies In Belief Son Still Living

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Colombo's life ended last night and with it one of the tenderest deceptions ever enacted in this capital of make-believe.

She was the 78-year-old mother of Russ Colombo, crooner and film actor. She died still happy in the belief that he was winning over more fame abroad—mercifully unaware that actually her son died a decade ago.

ENEMY MAROONED

In addition, one parachute division and two infantry divisions have been eliminated, he said, and a further six severely mauled, including one Panzer Grenadier division," said the report submitted by Eisenhower to the war department.

The equivalent of 20 infantry divisions have been eliminated, he said, and a further 12 have suffered severe losses. Included in this total of infantry divisions were three of the enemy's crack parachute divisions.

"Total enemy casualties amount to over 400,000 killed, wounded and prisoners of war, of which over 200,000 are prisoners of war," Eisenhower reported. "Of these prisoners, 135,000 have been captured since July 25. The total continues to mount."

Liquidate Threat

Strong Soviet Forces Break Into Bucharest

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The Red Army has entered Bucharest, Marshal Stalin announced tonight.

An order of the day addressed to Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky said that "troops of the second Ukrainian front, as a result of a swift offensive, routed a grouping of German troops in the area of Ploesti and south of Ploesti and today, Aug. 31, entered the city of Bucharest, thus liquidating the German threat from the north to the capital of Romania."

BOMBED BY NAZIS

Moscow reported a few days ago that Romanians themselves had driven the Germans from most of the city, and German warplanes have been bombing the capital since King Michael moved over to the Allied side.

Bucharest (pop. 600,000) was bombed for the first time by American planes last April 4, and was bombed repeatedly thereafter.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 31.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed today that the Allied armies were more than five days ahead of schedule in their march across western Europe and reiterated that Germany could be defeated this year if all on the home and war fronts did their duty.

Returning to headquarters in London from France, the supreme commander told newsmen at a 50-minute press conference that the campaigns in France on D-plus-85—85 days after D-Day, June 6—were well ahead of the original timetable set for D-plus-90.

As the Germans draw back into the Reich, he said, they are bound to try to pull their troops out of Normandy, Denmark, Holland and Belgium to defend their homeland. He assured newsmen that the Allies "certainly will not assist such moves."

Liquor Allowance To Remain Static

No increase in allowances of beer or hard liquor for Alberta permittees will be possible in September, J. A. King, chairman, Alberta Liquor Control Board, said Thursday. The present allowance is 12 pints of beer, 13 oz. hard liquor, and 36 ounces of wine a month.

Mr. King said he could not predict any change in allowances even for November. "We do know what the present situation is, and what it will be until Oct. 31, end of the basic year," he stated.

The Alberta board chairman said Dominion restrictions on liquor sales will probably be discussed at annual conferences of provincial liquor control board chairmen, to be held in Victoria, B.C., on Sept. 6 and 7. The restrictions hold provincial liquor sales to 70 per cent of the amount sold between Nov. 1, 1941 and Oct. 31, 1942.

Going to London

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Robert D. Murphy, United States political adviser to General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's Mediterranean high command, is going to London with the personal rank of ambassador to participate in the Allied military government of Germany, the state department said today.

Murphy will be the ranking diplomat on Eisenhower's staff, toppling General Butler, who was named several days ago as successor William Phillips. Phillips was Eisenhower's diplomatic adviser.

Output Drops Packing Plant Work Slowdown Reaches Coast

The slowdown strike that has been in effect at the Canada Packers Ltd. Edmonton plant has spread to its Vancouver branch, it was learned here Thursday. The slowdown in the local plant has been in operation for seven days, and has reduced production by 50 per cent in some of the processing departments.

The slowdown is alleged to have been started by executive officers of the CIO union to force the taking of an immediate vote amongst plant employees to determine whether the CIO union or a union affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is to be the bargaining agency for the plant employees.

The bargaining agency dispute stems from a decision of the arbitration board headed by H. H. Parlee, K.C., which directed in a majority report that a vote to determine the bargaining agency for employees in the plant should be taken in January, 1945. This report was signed by Mr. Parlee and L. Y. Cairns, M.C., company representative on the board.

MINORITY REPORT

Father C. J. Forin, representing the CIO union on the board, brought in a minority report recommending that an immediate vote be taken to settle the question of which union—the CIO affiliate or the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada affiliate—should have the bargaining rights.

Two votes had been taken previously in the plant, neither of which resulted in the rival unions.

Canadians Declared Richest in the World

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Canadians, the richest people in the world, have the highest standard of living on the globe, G. G. McGee, K.C., Liberal member of parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, told a meeting of the Vancouver board of trade here yesterday.

"No 12,000,000 people in the world have more to do, or more to do it with, than the lucky people who live in the Dominion of Canada," he said.

Any future depression in this country must be charged, not to the bankers, but to bad administration by the government of Canada, he added. Canadian servicemen and women would not return to conditions such as existed in this country before the war.

"A country that wants to finance the development of its own resources is no longer dependent upon the international bankers," Mr. McGee said. "We lent England $700,000,000 without interest and gave England $1,000,000,000 worth of goods each year during this war. Where did that money come from?"

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 31.—Powerful British armored forces broke across the Somme river line today, captured Amiens and plunged on toward Boulogne.

UNITED STATES 3rd ARMY HEADQUARTERS, France, Aug. 31.—(CP-Reuters)—American patrols are operating in the Argonne forest. Advanced elements of American armor are now about 70 miles from Germany and the Siegfried line.

Calais and the beaches of Dunkirk in a fast-rolling offensive that threatened to overrun the robot bomb coast within 72 hours.

Battle-hungry United Kingdom troops, spurred by the prospect of lifting the "rocket-siege" of London within a matter of days, swept across the Somme in a burst of power that sent the Nazis fleeing in disorder.

It was revealed that the British armored columns are led by Lt. Gen. Sir Richard O'Connor, famed desert warrior who was captured by the Germans in Libya and later escaped. It was presumed that O'Connor commands an armored corps under Lt. Gen. Sir Miles G. Dempsey.

British Pouring Across Somme

Tanks, guns and troops were reported pouring across the Somme in an increasing tide and headquarters spokesmen said the new bridgehead on the north bank was firmly established early this afternoon.

Amiens, which straddles the Somme about 40 miles inland from the channel coast, was the scene of one of the final Allied victories of World War One in August, 1918. Six days after the start of that offensive the German high command advised the Kaiser's government to sue for peace.

Simultaneously, Canadian 1st Army troops lunged into the Seine river port of Rouen and thrust across the Dieppe highway nine miles above Rouen in a drive to seal off the channel town, where a host of Canadians found death and glory in the great commando raid two years ago.

Far to the east, two American tank forces fanned out beyond the shattered Aisne and Marne river lines in twin drives that unofficial reports said had carried to within 26 miles of the Belgian border and little more than 80 miles from Germany.

German Resistance Crumbling

German resistance was crumbling swiftly under the trip-hammer United Kingdom and Canadian blows, and front reports indicated the Allies might reconquer the entire Pas de Calais area and its robot bomb bases by the end of the week.

"The all-conquering Nazi hosts are now shattered, hounded by day and night, and they have lost all semblance of an effective fighting force," British United Press war correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported from British field headquarters.

"They have only one idea—to drag themselves somehow out of the clutches of their fast-moving British pursuers."

McMillan reported that hundreds of Germans, worn out by the relentless pounding of Allied land and air forces, quit cold before Amiens and simply lay down along the roadside to watch the British armor roll by. They were rounded up without a fight.

North France Field Command Is Divided Up

By PHILIP AULT
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS.
Aug. 31.—Field command of the Allied armies in northern France has been divided up, with Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley getting equal rank with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, announced today.

Montgomery, heretofore commander of all ground forces in northern France, now directs the British 21st Army group, comprising the British 2nd and Canadian 1st Armies, while Bradley commands the American 1st and 3rd Armies, comprising the 12th Army Group.

The British 2nd Army is led by Lt. Gen. Sir Miles G. Dempsey and the Canadian 1st Army is under the command of Lt. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar.

The American 1st and 3rd Armies, comprising the 12th Army group, are commanded respectively by Lt. Gen. Courtney Hedges and Lt. Gen. George S. Patton.

Eisenhower, in announcing the change, said it originally had been approved last January—five months before D-Day—and had been known to all concerned since that time.

NOT A DEMOTION.
The new alignment definitely was not a demotion for Montgomery or a reflection on anyone. Eisenhower said at a press conference on his return to supreme headquarters in London from Normandy.

Rather, he indicated, the divided field command became necessary once the Allied armies had burst out of their original Normandy beachhead and spread over thousands of square miles of France.

Eisenhower said Montgomery was one of his closest and most loyal friends, a man of great talents and one who had had a large share in the Allied victories in France. He called him one of the great soldiers of this or any war.

Eisenhower emphasized that he was not an American commander, but an Allied one and the command changes, in the last analysis, made little difference since all the leaders worked as a team.

British troops would be rushed to an American front or viceversa, as a situation might demand, because there are no isolated or unfixable compartments.

CLOSE COLLABORATION.
While the British press has given both Bradley and Patton warm praise for the spectacular thrusts of American armored columns in France, it has been recognized that Eisenhower and Montgomery worked in the closest collaboration in the working out of the general invasion plan, which was handed over to them by Lt. Gen. Frederick E. Morgan of the British Army, head of the British-American staff committee.

Morgan's plan was submitted to the Quebec Conference where it was approved by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. Unofficial sources expected Eisenhower's over-all command soon would be extended to cover the Allied 7th Army moving north from the French Riviera and now within the Mediterranean command of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson.

BRITISH TAKE AMIENS, PLUNGE ON TO BOULOGNE.
ready had covered more than 50 miles in 48 hours but they pushed on swiftly in the conviction they soon would be marching on German soil.

The next main objective in their path was Arras, 31 miles to the northeast, Boulogne lay 62 miles to the northwest, Calais 74 miles north-northwest and Dunkirk, where the British Expeditionary Force was cut to ribbons by the wehrmacht in 1940, was 77 miles to the north.

NO WORD ON YANKS.
There was no word on progress of the American 1st and 3rd Armies today, and Eisenhower's spokesmen said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army columns again were operating under "security silence."

Front dispatches, unconfirmed at headquarters but apparently verified by German broadcasts, said one wing of Patton's forces had reached St. Dizier, 16 miles east-southeast of Vitry-Le-François and about 83 miles from the German border.

Another American armored force was reported to have taken an unnamed town 26 miles from the Belgian frontier, presumably in the area above Laon.

RUNNING FOR SHELTER.
Field dispatches said the Germans were running for the shelter of the Maginot and Siegfried lines on the Franco-German border. Forward elements of the American army were believed barely 50 miles from those fortifications, however, and it was not expected the Nazis could make a major stand there.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared flatly that the cream of the German armies in northern and southern France had been destroyed and reiterated his earlier prediction that the European war could be won in 1944.

70,000 CAPTURED.
British Robert G. Miller reported from the U.S. 2nd Army front that

War Flashbacks

By Canadian Press
Aug. 31, 1918.—British air squadrons dropped 10 tons of bombs on the German airfield at Boulay, in Petrograd (Leningrad), the Bolshevik Premier Nikolai Lenin hovered near death from an assassin's bullet.

Aug. 31, 1940.—The French government announced a rebellion had broken out in French Indo-China. The Royal Air Force bombed objectives at Hamburg, Bremen and Emden. Twenty-five lives were lost when the British merchant cruiser Dunvegan Castle was torpedoed.

motor transports have been captured or destroyed.

"About 500 assault guns and 1500 field and heavier artillery guns have been captured or destroyed. In addition the enemy has suffered very heavy losses in coast artillery equipment."

DECISIVELY DEFEATED.
"The German 7th Army and the newly formed 5th Panzer Army have been decisively defeated and into this defeat have been drawn the bulk of the fighting strength of the 1st and 15th Armies."

"Three field marshals and one army commander have either been dismissed or incapacitated by wounds. One army commander, three corps commanders, 15 division commanders and one fortress commander have been either killed or captured."

"In the air, the Luftwaffe has taken a fearful beating. Since June 6 (D-Day) 2,378 German aircraft have been destroyed in the air and 1,167 on the ground. In addition, 270 aircraft were probably destroyed and 1,028 aircraft were damaged in the air."

SHIPPING LOSSES SMALL.
Eisenhower's report said that in spite of enemy boasts, the Germans have been unable to interfere seriously at sea with the invasion forces. Losses of Allied shipping have been small, while some 300 enemy vessels of all classes have been sunk or heavily damaged by Allied action. In addition the Nazis have lost a number of merchant ships at sea and been forced to scuttle in their harbors large numbers of craft, both naval and commercial.

The Nazis have devoted a large share of their attention to attacking the Allies by mine laying, the general said, with the result that in three months off the French beaches the "mine bag" totaled one-tenth of all the mines swept in five years in all war theatres.

"Allied teamwork, extending through all services, has again demonstrated its ability to overcome the most adverse kind of conditions in defeating the enemy," Gen. Eisenhower said.

"Allied units from other countries have fought effectively alongside American and British forces and the FFI (French forces of the interior) have done much valuable work."

The report of the enormous success of the armies was accompanied, however, by a message to Lt. Gen. Breton Somervell, commanding the army service forces, telling of the enormous cost of the victory in American material, and urging that the flow of supplies be kept up.

TO REPLACE LOSSES.
During the first 70 days of the operations in northern France, Eisenhower said, the United States Army ground forces required more than 900 tanks to replace battle losses.

"In that same period," said Eisenhower, "we replaced other losses in the following amounts: 2,400 automatic rifles, 1,750 quarter-ton trucks (jeeps), 1,500 mortars and 83,000 miles of field wire."

"At our present strength, and on a basis of strict rationing, we are using 150,000 tons of ammunition every month. This includes 40,000,000 rounds of 30 calibre, 800,000 rounds of mortar and 900,000 of 105mm ammunition."

These were only a few examples, said Gen. Eisenhower, noting that many of the items used by the British Army are manufactured in the United States and that all French divisions use American equipment exclusively.

LOST 3,000 PLANES.
The air force, supporting the operation in northern France, "has lost 3,000 airplanes and has consumed in replacement parts and spares the equivalent of 225 more. It has dropped more than 55,000 tons of bombs and used 44,000,000 gallons of aviation gasoline."

The need for trucks of all kinds and sizes is increasing, said Eisenhower, and "our need for tires is acute."

"I must urge," his message to Gen. Somervell concluded, "that you keep flowing across the Atlantic at maximum rate all those things, including spare parts, that a modern army and air force require in battle."

An estimated 70,000 Germans have been captured, 60,000 wounded and 18,000 killed by Patton's men in the last 31 days, and an army spokesman said the Nazis now were believed to have fewer than 100,000 men left to defend northern France.

Eisenhower revealed that the march across France already was five days ahead of schedule and the drive was expected to gain momentum with the breaching of the Somme line—the last major river barrier held by the Germans in the north.

The fall of Amiens outflanked more than 100 miles of the robot bomb coast from Abbeville to the north of the Somme.

Packing Plant Work Slowdown Reaches Coast

obtaining a "majority of the employees affected" required under the terms of the present labor legislation.

A previous slowdown strike was put into operation at the plant here as a protest against delay by Ottawa in appointing this arbitration board.

The CIO affiliate appears to have rejected the majority finding of the board, and now is using the slowdown strike as a means of bringing about an immediate vote in the plant, according to an observer.

JOINT COMMITTEE.
The Trades and Labor Congress affiliate has accepted the award, and it is understood, has offered to compromise by proposing a joint labor committee until the present situation is clarified. The CIO affiliate, it is alleged, has refused this offer.

At a meeting of executives of the Canada Packers Co., rival union officials, and representatives of the livestock industry called by R. M. MacCrimmon, producers representative on the advisory council, Dominion meat board, executives of the Trades and Labor Congress affiliate accepted the award of the arbitration board, but the CIO rejected this offer, and refused any compromise other than an immediate vote, and will take no action to call off strike until they have immediate vote taken.

WIRE MINISTER.
The results of this meeting were telegraphed by Mr. MacCrimmon to Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor, pointing out that the producers representatives at the meeting represented 50 per cent of the livestock marketings in Alberta and asked for immediate action to terminate the strike.

Mr. MacCrimmon Thursday morning was in telephone communication with Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, who promised to do all possible to obtain action to straighten out the difficulty at the plant.

In his telegram Mr. MacCrimmon pointed out that officials of the provincial government have advised that as a Dominion board had dealt with this matter the province's labor department has no jurisdiction to intervene unless exclusive jurisdiction is waived to the province.

The producers representative pointed out that immediate action is necessary to prevent congestion at processing plants here.

Mr. MacCrimmon said that producers and not the packers will suffer from this slowdown. They feel that it is a rank injustice, and that packing house workers should share the burden of wartime production.

MAKES STATEMENT.
The slowdown strike now in progress at the Canada Packers plant under the auspices of the CIO and which has crippled the output of that plant by 50 per cent of normal at a time when the country is at a very critical period of its war effort is wholly unwarranted and must be condemned by all citizens," Carl E. Berg, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress stated Thursday.

"There is no justification for a slowdown strike at any time, much less in war time. It is a weapon which is most unjust," Mr. Berg stated.

"True, it does save the CIO from paying strike benefits by accepting the employers' wages under false pretences."

CLAIMS NO EXCUSE.
"There is no excuse or justification for the present strike. The CIO case has been dealt with in accordance to the Dominion and provincial labor laws. Two votes have been taken, and in each the CIO failed to win a sufficient majority of the employees affected in either vote."

The CIO officials then applied for a board of conciliation to which it presented its case, the board ruling that since two votes had already been taken this year that another vote should not be taken until next January.

TO STOP UNREST.
"This action was taken by the board because production was suffering in the plant through the continued agitation coincident with the taking of the two votes, and therefore the January 1945 date was set for the next vote to stop further unrest until that time."

"This action did not suit the directors of the CIO who proceeded to engineer the slowdown strike now in progress in defiance of all legal and constitutional procedure in an effort to force the government to reverse the board's decision concerning the voting date."

The use of the slowdown strike must be condemned as a totalitarian weapon that can only bring disaster to labor in general, even though it is a weapon of a small section of the labor movement.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. MacCrimmon was advised by the Dominion Labor department by means of a telegram that "in connection with the alleged slowdown at Canada Packers, Edmonton, the Alberta government officials have been advised by the Dominion Labor department that the dispute in this plant is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the province."

"The present situation in this plant involves the question of labor relations and we understand that the matter is now being handled actively by provincial authorities."

The telegram was signed by M. MacLean, director of industrial relations, Dominion department of labor.

After receipt of this communication from the Dominion department of labor Mr. MacCrimmon, and other livestock producers asked for a meeting with Premier Ernest Manning. This meeting was held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when all the known facts relative tion for the federal election," he said.

The resolution on the Dominion-provincial conference said that effective action for post-war employment and to establish social security, adequate wages and proper labor conditions could be achieved only if there were clarification and allocation of jurisdiction between the federal and provincial governments.

PEACETIME ECONOMY.
"The conclusion of the war will see national catastrophe unless plans are completed immediately for the transition to a peacetime economy. This urgent duty must not be shelved merely because politicians like Premier George Drew of Ontario are prepared to sacrifice the welfare of the people to prejudice and political interest."

"In announcing postponement of the conference in the Commons on Aug. 14, Mr. King quoted Mr. Drew as saying:

"My one ambition in the political field outside of Ontario is to see an end as soon as possible of the weak and incompetent government in power at Ottawa today."

"Mr. King added that in view of Mr. Drew's position it must be apparent that any conference held before a federal election would have little or no hope of success."

More Nazi Robots Strike at London

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Smashing through blazing defensive fire, periodic salvos of flying bombs struck London and southern England yesterday, and as Allied armies racing for Belgium captured more launching sites and bombers hammered them, the German-controlled Oslo radio claimed Hitler's V-1 weapon was portable and could be shifted for operation to all parts of the mainland.

One of the missiles exploding in southern England scattered propaganda leaflets which charged Britain with inaugurating the bombing of civilians. The leaflets bore pictures of mothers and children allegedly killed in Hamburg and Cologne.

In London, agitation continued for lifting or easing the blackout "curfew" light on the last mile of war, but regional defence chiefs advised Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, to play safe and maintain the blackout and fire-guards to the finish.

Heading government urging 5,000 more mothers and children evacuated London.

Duchess Windsor Is Operated On

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Duchess of Windsor underwent successfully an operation for appendicitis at Roosevelt hospital today, Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, medical director, announced.

The operation was successfully carried out and no adverse complications are anticipated," Dr. Clemmons said.

Elaborate precautions were taken to protect the privacy of the 48-year-old, American-born Duchess who married the former King of England. All hospital entrances were guarded by police, and reporters were barred from the information desk.

Dr. Clemmons issued a statement earlier this morning that "the Duchess has one room and one nurse on duty at a time and that's all."

"She does not have a suite of 10 rooms or two nurses on duty at a time," Dr. Clemmons said. Yesterday a person connected with the hospital told an Associated Press reporter that the Duke had reserved 10 rooms and engaged six nurses for the Duchess.

Nelson in Moscow.
MOSCOW, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Donald M. Nelson and Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley arrived in Moscow yesterday en route to Chungking for a brief visit at the Chinese capital.

After the slowdown strike will be placed before him.

J. L. Lenglet, Edmonton, CIO western representative, could not be reached for comment on the situation at the Canada Packers plant.

Ottawa Plans End Lease on Fair Grounds

Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, and member of parliament for Edmonton West, intimated that there was a possibility that the exhibition plant would be used as a demobilization centre.

Civic officials are now awaiting official representations from Ottawa on the future use of these grounds.

The city commissioners Thursday telegraphed the Ottawa department requesting that no improvements or equipment be removed or otherwise disposed of until they have an opportunity to discuss the terms of the lease cancellation.

The lease was entered into on June 2, 1941, and carried a three-month cancellation clause. The department is asking for release from the terms of this clause.

Under the terms of the lease the department of national defence paid one dollar to the city but undertook to pay deficits incurred by the Edmonton Exhibition Association on its curtailed operations up to a limit of $8,500 annually.

Plan to Exchange Machine Samples.
OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A preparatory step toward post-war resumption of normal trade relations, the Canadian government has undertaken to facilitate the interchange of samples of new types of machinery and equipment between companies in Canada, the United States and Britain. Munitions Minister Howe announced last night.

Mr. Howe explained that this undertaking implements a resolution passed by the combined production board, on which Canada is represented.

DESPERATE FIGHTING.
In the Rhone valley, the battered German forces were sacrificing huge supplies and hundreds of men in desperate rearguard fighting in an attempt to delay the fast pursuing American troops.

Despite heavy losses in fierce battles along the eastern shore of the Rhone River, a substantial portion of the Germans broke out of the American trap from Montelimar to Livron and succeeded in reaching the Lyon area.

The harassed Germans were expected to make an attempt to reform their forces at Lyon, a famous silk manufacturing centre and France's third largest city, and hold on to delay as long as possible a juncture of Allied troops from north and southern France.

The Germans apparently hoped to stall the Allied drive until all their units could be withdrawn to a point from where they could retreat to the German frontier.

RING AROUND LYON.
A communique from the French interior forces reported that patriots were fighting a ring around Lyon and already had seized several points inside the city. The communique said the patriots also had captured the town of Bourgoin, 20 miles southeast of Lyon.

The Americans were driving two salients northward that at one point carried to Chabeuil, within six miles of the key road junction of Valence. The second force was striking north of Livron, at the confluence of the Rhone and Drome rivers.

FIERY BATTLE.
The battle to trap and annihilate the German remnants marked the first fierce fighting encountered by the Americans in southern France. Most of their advances had been against slight or no opposition.

The Germans were having some success in salvaging a portion of the trapped forces, although at high cost. In a 10-mile pocket below Livron, the Americans destroyed 2,000 motor vehicles, 1,000 horses, 20 75-MM anti-tank guns, 12 75-MM guns, three batteries of field artillery, six railroad guns, 40 28-MM anti-aircraft guns and eight self-propelled guns. More than 200 enemy dead also was counted in the section.

The bag of prisoners continued to mount steadily on all fronts and the total now has passed 50,000. American troops also cleaned out an enemy pocket at Clary, about five miles northeast of Montelimar, their first big trap. They were forced from the village Monday night, but retook it with little opposition yesterday.

LITTLE RESISTANCE.
French troops pushing along the west bank of the Rhone, were meeting little resistance and drove 15 miles north from Bagnols to Bourg St. Andre.

Although the Germans let Nice go without opposition, there were indications they intended to fight bitterly to maintain control of the mountain passes into Italy.

Enemy activity was reported in the Alps and the Germans apparently were preparing to contact American troops, particularly in the areas around Mount Genevre and Larch passes.

Mount Genevre is near Briancon, which the Germans seized two days ago in the first reconquest of territory captured by American forces in southern France. Larch is almost due east of Montelimar.

Reports Indicate: Nazis Plan Gas Offensive In Last Desperate Stand

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The Daily Mail's Geneva correspondent yesterday quoted reports "circulating freely in the Reich and neutral countries" that the Germans were planning a poison gas offensive as a last-ditch war measure.

"Chemical factories in Bohemia and northern Italy are working on huge orders for products which are veiled in the greatest secrecy," the story said, "and other factories are said to be working night and day on mass production of gas masks."

The story quoted the Swiss newspaper Gazette de Lausanne as saying that "since Germany has lost her mastery, her efforts will be reduced to insensate attacks. The leaders of the Reich will gravely aggravate their position by adding gas to flying bombs dropped on the civil population of London."

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—John Scott, Time magazine correspondent, broadcast over the blue network from Stockholm yesterday a report that Germans were sending poison gas cylinders to the English channel coast.

The correspondent said an Allied plane had strafed a heavily-guarded train, en route from Germany through Holland to the coast, and that poison gas had escaped from cylinders. It was carrying, killing several of the guards and throwing a nearby Netherlands town into panic.

"Many trains, heavily guarded such as this one, have passed through Belgium and Holland recently towards the channel coast," Scott added.

Eisenhower praised the fighting qualities of the United Kingdom, Canadian, American and Allied troops under his command and the close co-operation maintained among them.

Dealing with the early phases of the fighting in France, Eisenhower said that every foot of ground the Germans held around Caen was worth 10 miles anywhere else.

The Germans simply couldn't afford to lose any ground in this area, he explained, if they hoped to carry out their plan of rigid defense and "every piece of dust there represented diamonds."

Eisenhower praised highly the "magnificent fighting" by United Kingdom and Canadian troops in the Caen area and the generalship of Montgomery and his lieutenants.

Think Nazi Power Broken in France

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE SEINE, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Tremendous losses in the battle of Normandy are calculated to have drained German resources so much that the Wehrmacht is too weak a state at the moment to offer any formidable resistance in France unless troops are rushed rapidly from other fronts.

It is estimated here that the battle of Normandy cost the Nazis 400,000 men killed, wounded, missing and taken prisoner; 1,300 tanks; 500 guns and 20 generals. This probably is a conservative estimate.

After this defeat any plan which the enemy had of defending the Seine line was frustrated by the piercing of this line before the Germans could get organized on the lower stretch of the river, by the liberation of Paris and the American crossing of the Marne.

It now becomes more evident than ever that the enemy has a major problem on his hands in trying to protect the approaches to his flying bomb sites. Some of these sites already are being moved eastward toward the low countries.

Report Erroneous

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Defense department officials said yesterday that the family of Pte. Edward Costie of Sydney, N.S., was notified Tuesday that Costie is alive and well and that a report he was killed in action July 25 was erroneous. The department said a telegram sent the family Aug. 8 reporting Costie's death was based on erroneous information from his unit.

Army Jeep Goes on the Land, May Be Used by Veterans After War

Standard army jeep pulls a medium-sized binder over a field of oats at the University of Saskatchewan. The university is testing the jeep for the dominion government, which may supply it to soldiers placed on the land after the war. The jeep handled this load satisfactorily, but bogged down with heavier machinery in tow. University experts feel that the jeep would make a good all-round farm vehicle but will need some modifications first.

Hitler Recruiting People's Army For Coming Battle of Germany

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Nazi quadrumvirate of Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Goebbels is whipping together a people's army for the battle of Germany and is sending work battalions to restore the border fortifications from which the conquest of Europe began Sept. 1, 1939.

It is reported here that the Germans are modernizing their Siegfried line, built in 1938-39 to match the French Maginot line, and also are reconditioning the line in the west which first was built against Poland, and are building new fortifications in Czechoslovakia.

REPLACE CANNON
Cannon dismantled from the Siegfried and Maginot lines after the fall of France and taken to Norway and Denmark, now are being returned to their original emplacements.

The Nazis are scraping for manpower to build a home defence army, since trained reserves have been sent to the front long since. Swedish military commentators estimated that last spring Hitler had 7,300,000 men under arms in 405 divisions, with more than 300 of these divisions at the front. Since then, his reserves have been melting fast.

From the type of training given the new recruits, it appears that they mainly are intended to be snipers. They are 16 to 18 and 40 to 45 years of age.

YOUTHS TRAINING
The Hitler youth movement—which includes every boy from 10 to 18—is running an obligatory three-week military course in close co-operation with the army.

Boys of 16 and 17 now are being called up, and are punished if they fail to report for duty. The storm trooper organization also is extending its training in how to shoot, with appeals for pupils of all ages. Many stories in the German press extol the activity of men as old as 82, and pictures show men in their sixties marching with shotguns.

The Hitler youth, besides learning sniper tactics, also is taking over jobs as firemen and replacing police on routine beats.

How much manpower Goebbels can muster is problematical. One Swedish military commentator said 1,000,000 would be a high figure and that in any case the men would not be first class.

Danish Competition In Eggs Is Seen

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—W. A. Brown, chief of poultry production services, Ottawa, yesterday told delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Hatcheries here that Canada can expect competition from Denmark on the British market in the post-war years. Denmark has told Britain she will be able to resume shipments of eggs on a small scale within one month after signing of a European armistice, Mr. Brown said.

Total Vote in New Brunswick Larger Than 1939; Below 1935

FREDERICTON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Total vote in the New Brunswick general election Monday, tabulated last night by The Canadian Press, was larger than in the 1939 provincial election but smaller than in 1935.

The re-elected Liberal Party polled the largest vote, the Progressive Conservatives second, and the CCF a distant third. Although none of the 41 CCF candidates was elected, their entry into the New Brunswick political field resulted in the two other parties polling smaller votes than in the two previous elections.

The tabulation, based on 1,001 of 1,015 polls, with results of the armed services' vote still to come:

	1944	1939	1935
Liberal	268,261 (36)	294,721 (29)	340,373 (43)
Prog. Con.	222,765 (12)	244,487 (19)	229,889 (5)
CCF	66,110 (0)	712 (0)	—
Others	—	562 (0)	1,482 (0)
Totals	557,136 (48)	540,482 (48)	571,544 (48)

By JOHN WILHELM

PARIS, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The taking over of the Paris press by newspapermen of the resistance movement is one of the most sensational stories in the liberation of the French capital.

Labor Conference To Open Sept. 12

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A Commonwealth labor conference to discuss matters of Empire concern in the post-war world will open in London Sept. 12. It was announced yesterday. British, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, and South African representatives will attend.

It is understood that the conference will be a consultative gathering, designed to present the various labor parties' views on all major economic and political issues likely to arise after the war.

The Canadian delegates were announced here as M. J. Coldwell, president of the CCF, national council; Frank Scott, national chairman of the CCF; David Lewis, the party's national secretary, and Clarence Gillis and P. E. Wright, CCF members of the House of Commons for Cape Breton South and Melford respectively.

Adelaide, capital of South Australia, was named after the wife of King William IV of England.

On the morning of Aug. 19—the day after open insurrection started in Paris—men of the underground made a dawn appearance with drawn pistols at all large newspaper plants and demanded entrance.

Work started immediately. Two days later—several days before the Allied arrival—newspapers were hawking copies of the liberated newspapers under the noses of the Germans.

Newspapers such as Paris Soir, Le Matin and L'Ouvrier, which continued publication in Paris during the German regime, have been outlawed under rigid measures for press re-organization decided on by leaders of the underground press and approved by the de Gaulle authorities.

Paris today has 14 newspapers including only five with names known before the war. These are Le Soir, Humanite, L'Aube, Figaro and Populaire. The newspapers mostly bear the names of the former underground press.

They are Front National, Liberation, Combat, Defense de la France, Franc Tireur, Parisien Libre, Journal Officiel des F.F.I. and La Patrie.

Humanite, organ of the Communists, has a circulation of 200,000 daily. Populaire's circulation is 180,000, and the other 12 have a total circulation of 120,000.

Report Eisenhower Directs 7th Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Extension of Gen. Eisenhower's command to include the 7th Army now sweeping north from the Mediterranean coast of France was disclosed yesterday in high quarters.

The operations of the American and French forces in the south under command of Lt.-Gen. Alexander M. Patch was said to be an integral part of the overall campaign to crush the Germans in France.

Although Patch's forces invaded France from the Mediterranean coast, it was said that their operations were tied to those of the Allied expeditionary forces under Eisenhower, rather than to the campaigns in the Mediterranean under the command of Gen. Maitland Wilson.

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Supreme headquarters had no comment last night on a Washington report that Gen. Eisenhower was

De Gaulle Head Of Provisional Govt. in France

By GLADWIN HILL

PARIS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A provisional French government, headed by Gen. de Gaulle as president of council and including Communists and some men whose real identity is still hidden by assumed war names, was announced yesterday by the French National Committee of Liberation.

Andre Le Troquer, former Socialist deputy, was named commissioner of liberated territories. Quartus Cerat, former Senator Henri Queuille and former deputy Francois Billoux were named commissioners for territory still occupied by German forces.

LIAISON OFFICIAL
Andre Phillip, a former deputy, was appointed liaison between the provisional government and the temporary assembly, and Gen. Georges Catroux was made coordinator of Moslem questions.

Troquer, Cerat, Queuille, Billoux, Phillip and Catroux all bear the titles of commissioners of state. Cerat is the assumed name of a man who has been Gen. de Gaulle's minister at large, doing liaison work with the 400-odd underground groups. He is a former attorney general of the supreme courts.

Also announced were the names of 13 commissioners—a rank equivalent to that of cabinet minister. Ten of these held the same positions in the liberation committee set up in Algiers and one held a similar post under a different title.

WAR COMMISSIONER

A former Communist deputy, whose name was given incompletely as Diebren, was named commissioner for war. Adrien Texier, former Fighting French delegate to Washington, was made commissioner of labor and social matters, and Jean Monnet, minister of supply in Algiers, was named a commissioner without portfolio.

Radio France of Algiers said last night that members of the French Committee of National Liberation and the consultative assembly had left Algiers for Paris. Before the departure, Gen. Georges Catroux was named commissioner of state for French North Africa, it was announced.

Gripsholm Carries Mail For Captives

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The liner Gripsholm, which sailed from New York last week for Sweden to exchange German and Allied prisoners of war, also carried 1,500 bags of parcels for Canadian soldiers held prisoner in Germany, the post office department announced yesterday.

Normally, parcels for German prisoners are sent through Basel, Switzerland, by way of the port of Marseilles but since Marseilles became a battle zone this service has been discontinued.

The post office department said it was hoped "in the near future" to be able to carry letter mail to Canadian prisoners of war in Germany as far as Switzerland by Allied air transport now that German airline service to Portugal has been discontinued.

U.S. Subs Destroy 15 Nippon Ships, Two Destroyers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Destruction of 17 Japanese vessels, including two warships, by American submarines operating in enemy waters, was reported by the navy yesterday.

Destruction of the two Nipponese destroyers brings to 55 the number of Japanese warships thus far sunk by American submarine action. The latest bag of the submarines included two tankers from the badly depleted fleet of Japanese fuel-carrying vessels.

The total included also 13 cargo vessels. To take over active command of operations in both northern and southern France, a set-up under which Lt.-Gen. Bradley and Gen. Montgomery would have equal status as army group commanders

Germans Protected

Bulgaria's Neutrality Denounced by Soviet

By WADE WERNER

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Moscow radio sharply attacked the Bulgarian government's "proclaimed neutrality" today and asserted it was "in order to enable the Germans to hide in Bulgaria from prosecution by the Allies."

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch from the newly captured Romanian port of Constanta, said that "according to verified reports the other day 23 German armed ships reached Ruse (Russhuk)."

In addition, Moscow said, German ships including submarines find shelter in the Bulgarian Black Sea ports of Varna and Burgas and, "with the assistance of Bulgarian authorities, the Germans already have sunk several of these ships."

PEACE DELEGATION
The attack came as a Bulgarian peace delegation reached Cairo to negotiate an armistice with Britain and the United States. The country is not at war with Russia.

"According to reports reaching here," the Tass dispatch said, "Germans turned over a part of their ships to Bulgarian authorities in payment of German trade obligations."

"All this indicates that the Bulgarian government's proclaimed 'neutrality' is in order to enable Germans to hide in Bulgaria from prosecution by the Allies."

Moscow radio earlier announced that a Romanian government armistice delegation has arrived in Moscow to discuss peace terms with Russia.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet Monitor, said the purpose of the delegation was "the carrying on of conversations and the conclusion of an armistice."

Romania announced last Thursday she was withdrawing from the war as a partner of the Axis and would "fight against the enemy."

ARMISTICE DENIED
The USSR replied that only by fighting alongside Russia could she obtain terms, denying that an armistice was in effect.

The Romanian delegation to Moscow was headed by Prince Barbu Stirbey, who has been active in peace manoeuvres dating back to last spring. Also included were Justice Minister Victor Patrascu, a Communist member of the Romanian government and Vice Minister of Interior Col. D. Damaceanu.

Predicts Repeal Of Liquor Order In Near Future

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Hon. Leslie Blackwell, Ontario attorney-general said yesterday that the federal order-in-council restricting provincial liquor sales to 70 per cent of the amount in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1942, "no doubt soon will be repealed." His remark came in an address of welcome to the Canadian Bar Association annual meeting after an expression of regret that Ontario's welcome to the delegates "would not be as stimulating as might be desired" because of the federal restriction.

War Criminals Won't Escape in Neutral Lands

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Sir Cecil Hurst, vice-president of the permanent court of international justice and chairman of the United Nations commission for the investigation of war crimes, made it plain yesterday that war criminals will have little chance of escaping justice by taking refuge in neutral countries.

At a commission conference in London yesterday Sir Cecil said "considerable pressure" would be applied to any neutral countries giving refuge to war criminals. "After the last war Holland dug her toes in over the question of the ex-Kaiser at Doorn. You may be quite sure that the United Nations governments are alive to that danger on this occasion."

WON'T GIVE 'NAMES'
Sir Cecil refused to disclose the names of men on the "wanted" list. He would not even state that Hitler was on the list, although he conceded that the case against Hitler was "very complete."

The United Nations may decide to put men like Hitler or Mussolini on trial or deal with them in the same way as Napoleon was dealt with by what is called "executive action."

The men responsible for the shooting of British and Canadian airmen prisoners were criminals who had violated the laws of war, said Sir Cecil. The utmost efforts would be made to see that they were brought to justice.

Responsibility for deciding what war crimes shall be brought before the commission and for submitting evidence rests with the individual governments, the statement said.

MUFFINS CAN HELP KEEP YOU REGULAR

Yes — by eating several delicious KELLGRO'S ALL-BRAN muffins every day, and drinking plenty of water, you can help prevent constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet!

KELLGRO'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
8 tablespoons 1 cup milk
1 cup shortening 1 cup sifted flour
1 cup sugar 1 1/2 cups salt
1 egg 2 1/2 teaspoons
1 cup Kellgro's All-Bran 1 baking powder

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans 3/4 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins.

ALL-BRAN is made by Kellgro's in London, Canada. Your grocer has it in 3 convenient sizes.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS AND THEIR MALE EMPLOYEES

By an order signed on August 15th, 1944, by the undersigned Minister of Labour under authority of National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations:

1. Commencing August 22nd, 1944, every employer is required to check the documents held by each newly engaged male employee, within 7 days of the employee's engagement, to determine if such employee possesses documents to show that he is in good standing under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations (that is, in relation to the Military Call-up);
2. Every employer must report on Schedule 9 to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division, concerning any employee found not to possess documents as referred to;
3. Every employer is required similarly to check the documents held by each male employee newly engaged between May 1st, 1944, and August 22nd, 1944, and to report to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division by August 29th, 1944, on any such employee found not to possess documents as referred to;
4. Any male employee here referred to, is required by the Regulations to present his documents to his employer for purposes of inspection;
5. Penalties are provided for any employer or male employee who fails to comply with these Regulations.

By an earlier order, employers were required to check the documents held by their male employees, and to report by May 1st, 1944, on doubtful cases as well as cases where employees did not possess documents. The procedure for the present continuing check, although being notified to employers in "Notice to Employers and their Male Employees", which is now being mailed, is identical with that set forth in "Employers' Guide", which covered the check made before May 1st, 1944.

Employers are asked to remember that they do not report on men who do possess the necessary documents—only on those who fail to present documents for examination, or where there is doubt that the documents presented actually prove good standing.

The employers of Canada co-operated very satisfactorily on the first check, made up to May 1st last. This co-operation was decidedly helpful, and is very much appreciated. Further co-operation is now earnestly requested.

Schedule 9 and details as to documents which prove good standing, are available through the Employment and Selective Service Office.

Generals All

Maurice Duplessis, leader of the pro-fascist Union Nationale, was sworn in as Quebec premier yesterday and announced that his cabinet would consist of 21 members, including Mr. Duplessis himself, who will hold not only the premiership but the attorney-general's portfolio as well.

This, of course, is the largest provincial cabinet in Canadian political history.

There was a feeling that Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan had struck off an unusual number of cabinet medals for the boys when he formed a cabinet which is roughly a quarter the size of his representation in the legislature. But Premier Duplessis has outdone him.

Mr. Duplessis has 45 members in the house. One of these is overseas. Another has been named speaker. That means that out of 46 voting members, 21 will be cabinet ministers. In other words, the cabinet will be just two less than half the size of the entire Union Nationale representation.

Doubtless the claims of his followers have been urgent. Political leaders always have difficulty in apportioning the cabinet posts after an upset election.

But Mr. Duplessis' difficulties have been more than usually severe. His embarrassments have undoubtedly been inordinately numerous.

For there is one characteristic of fascist-minded people with which Mr. Duplessis has had to deal, as is obvious in his cabinet announcements:

Fascists all want to be generals.

Europe Will Be Haunted

If it is true, as many maintain, that a place which has been a scene of prolonged and unusual human anguish is frequently a spot of psychic turbulence, then surely large areas of Europe will be forever haunted by the wraiths of those who have been victims of incredible German brutality.

For the revelations at the trial of German war prisoners in Poland are almost beyond belief. At the fantastic murder camp at Majdanek literally hundreds of thousands of men, women and children were deliberately put to death over a period of three years.

Women were thrust alive into white hot ovens. On one day alone, 18,400 persons were murdered by the Nazis.

There are those who say that the sites of ancient pagan temples where devil worship occurred thousands of years ago will still stir a feeling of unrest or even horror in the mind of the onlooker who chances upon such a place at dusk.

There are those who declare that to pass the site of the ancient Bedlam asylum in the east end of London, after nightfall, a place where inhuman cruelty was once practiced, will prick the scalp of the passerby.

If such places are held accursed, what can one say of Majdanek? If one murder can render a house uninhabitable, as some aver, what terrific psychic pall will fall over those areas where the Nazis have continued their abominations for years?

But it is not with such spiritist manifestations—if such exist—that the world is concerned. The problem is not one for an exorcist but for statesmen. The job is not so much to rid the earth of horror as to rid the earth of those who promote such horror.

For it is almost impossible to regard as human beings the persons who conceived and operated such a frightful institution as the murder camp at Majdanek.

Daily the problem of disposing of the Germans socially, politically and economically more and more transcends the problem of disposing of them militarily.

What can be done with people who have deliberately transposed themselves to the age of savagery?

An Act of War

There are expressions of anxiety in London and Washington over the possibility that Hitler and his Nazi leaders may soon seek sanctuary in neutral countries—and get it.

It is more than a year since the United Nations circularized the neutral powers to discover, if possible, what their attitude would be towards extending protection and shelter to members of the German gang. None of the replies was entirely satisfactory. None removed the apprehension that, through some of these neutral powers, those guilty of war crimes might escape international justice.

It is time, then, that a firm and definite stand be taken in this matter. It is time the neutral countries were informed in very positive and understandable terms that to harbor the Nazi criminals will be considered an act of war.

And that is no exaggeration of the implications of such an act. So long as these men live they will endanger the security of the world. For their following in Germany is tremendous. Having inculcated their savage creed into German youth from the cradle, they will not lose their influence over this barbaric horde through the mere misfortune of war. So long as this fanatic generation lasts, Hitler and his crowd, whether in exile or not, will be able to employ it as an instrument of turbulence.

As has been pointed out before, sanctuary is only valid when it shelters a refugee from vengeance. It is not valid when it seeks to shelter him from justice.

No neutral nation, then, can plead the law of sanctuary as an excuse for giving refuge to any of this vicious gang.

Nor can they plead the violation of their sovereignty if such persons are forcibly taken from their territories. Sovereignty, too, is only a relative thing and exists only insofar as it refrains from doing violence to the basic laws of humanity. A nation forfeits its sovereignty when it commits an act which threatens the freedom and peace of its neighbors.

That is why it would be an act of war for any neutral nation to harbor Hitler and his Nazi leaders. The Allies should lose no time in making that fact abundantly plain.

More Effrontery

The newspaper published by Japanese evacuees at Kaslo, B.C., has made a vicious editorial attack on John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and accuses him of race prejudice.

Mr. Bracken had stated in Vancouver that he favors the exclusion of Japanese from all of British Columbia, not merely the present 100-mile coastal strip.

With no intent to endorse or condemn Mr. Bracken's policies, one can still voice indignation over this impudent affront offered to a Canadian public man. Whatever Mr. Bracken's political future may be, he is at least the leader of many thousands of sound and patriotic Canadians and the people of this country, in his party or out of it, will resent the insolent journalistic sniping of aliens.

This cry of race prejudice raised continually by the Japanese might evoke some sympathy if it were true. But it is definitely not on the basis of race prejudice that measures to rid the country of Japanese immigrants are advocated. Japanese exclusion is urged solely on the ground that Japanese do not come to this country to better themselves or to become Canadians but to act as agents of conquest for the imperial Japanese government.

As this paper has pointed out many times, Japanese are only permitted to leave their country on this basis.

Surely this continued insolence and effrontery does their cause little good.

Rose Hip Jam

How to Prepare Conserve Containing Essential Elements

By Dr. George Hunter and Dr. Jules Tuba, Department of Biochemistry, University of Alberta.

In our department of biochemistry we have done much work in the last three years on rose hips—maybe more than has been done anywhere on the continent. Perhaps that is because rose hips don't seem to be very important. We think differently.

It is recognized that very few Canadians get enough vitamin C in their food especially in winter. So what? Either buy citrus fruits such as lemons, oranges and grapefruit, or buy the pure vitamin C pills in a drug store. Previously these have been the only alternatives. And each of these alternatives has been closed to most people because of expense, or because they are just not on the market even if one has the money.

Early in the war the Canadian government would have liked to put an embargo on the importation of citrus fruits to Canada. The hazard to the health of Canadian civilians prevented such action.

It was this situation that aroused our interest in rose hips. We had read of researches in the Soviet Union along this line. On testing local rose hips, we soon found they were by far the richest known source of vitamin C. Our determinations were first carried out by purely chemical methods but more recently we have confirmed our chemical methods by biological tests. There is no doubt that what appeared to be vitamin C in rose hips is vitamin C.

The yearly rose hip crop of Alberta we calculated would supply the needs of all Canadians more than a hundred times over. Our problem is how can the people make use of them.

It is not easy to see how the Alberta rose hip crop could be economically exploited by, let us say, a large pharmaceutical concern. The first obvious difficulty would be to gather the harvest. Rose hip farms may be feasible in the future, but not immediately. As things are of course rose hips are worth much more to a housewife than many of the other fruits she buys. They contain large amounts of useful sugars and appreciable quantities of vitamins other than vitamin C. But we cannot go into that here.

There appeared to us another way to look at the problem. We might help people to help themselves. Most Canadians outside our few rather large cities may find plenty of rose hips by the roadsides and may well do their own picking or get the children to do it. Indeed school children might profitably collect the hips and sell them at raspberry prices at a bargain to housewives.

Gentle Sleep Is An Essential

Suggestions on How to Overcome Insomnia by Easy Rules

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

Many women, never on familiar terms with insomnia before, today are finding out that the tensions caused by working at top speed, or by worry, are exacting a heavy beauty toll in sleep-hours lost.

Perhaps the best of all testimonials to the beautifying effects of sufficient sleep is the fact that Hollywood stars are sound asleep long before midnight to look fresh and glamorous for work the next day.

The relaxing of tension through physical and psychological means is an enormous medical subject. From some of the findings of the research so far reported there are these tips which may be of value to those who have difficulty in getting to sleep.

The first and most important suggestion, upon which all others are based, is to add an extra hour to the amount of time usually allotted to sleeping. If, for instance, eight hours is the amount of sleep you need, and you must get up at 8 o'clock, start thinking of your bed hour as 11, instead of 12.

At 11 stop all thoughts of work, of problems that may arise tomorrow, of grievances you have, of people you do not like, of episodes

The valuable part of the fruit is the red outside covering; the seeds and hairs inside should be got rid of. But it has been no easy matter to make this separation without much tedious work. The second difficulty is that the fruit juice has rather poor jelling properties. Finally the flavor is characteristic and because it is strange some people are not enthusiastic about it.

In one of our early papers we gave a rough kind of recipe to make rose hip jelly. We later found there was much waste by this method that discards the pulp; and some of our friends had difficulty in getting their jellies to jell. We have read many recipes we know do not work so we have taken a little time to get a sure jell for what we may call rose hip jam.

Our concern here has mainly been to overcome the main difficulties in handling this unusual but most valuable fruit. We believe we have overcome the difficulties and through the kind cooperation of this newspaper we are communicating our findings in time to be of use this season to the many housewives interested. They will no doubt improve on our method.

Not Urging Softness Towards the Enemy

Germany Should Become a Greater Switzerland Is View

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

I hear it is charged against me that in criticizing the peace proposals, proliferating daily, I am urging softness towards our enemies. Let me therefore say now that I am exclusively concerned to see a long and constructive peace, the restoration in Europe of the rule of law, the recreation of principles of justice and reasonable behavior, and the liquidation of an epoch, now a generation long, which has encompassed two wars and an intervening period of social and economic chaos and political adventurism.

It is in the light of some such goal that all proposals must be weighed. Otherwise, in the liquidation of the danger from Germany, we shall set in motion a train of new menaces arising out of them.

As Governor Dewey remarked the other day, there must be a rational discussion of these problems. In order rationally to discuss, we must differentiate between our completely justified feelings cry-

Bad Habit

Insomnia is just a bad sleeping habit. Here are some rules for breaking the habit.

Don't fuss and become irritated if you don't go to sleep immediately, make yourself relax. If money matters worry you don't discuss them before bedtime.

Experiment to find your individual solution to sleep. Try different positions for relaxed sleep, try a warm bath or a cool one or a warm drink or deep breathing before bed; try heavier or lighter bedding; try different types of pillows or no pillow. Try anything.

Eat your heavy meal at noon, not at night.

Here is the recipe: You need both crab apples and rose hips. First, about the crab apples. Barely cover with water, boil till soft and smash into mush. Then strain through cheesecloth and get as much juice as possible.

The ends are picked off the rose hips and, without washing, the fruit is put through a household mincing machine. The plate used should allow the seeds to go through uncut. This gives a rather dry and sticky mince.

Now take one part of the minced rose hips and two parts of the crab apple juice and stir into a paste. Bring to near boil with stirring to prevent sticking and burning on bottom of vessel.

This is now removed from the stove and in batches put through a wire strainer with a mesh just small enough to hold back the seeds. The material in the strainer should be stirred around with a spoon until the pulp has drained through. The seeds are discarded.

The pulp thus obtained, which is rather like tomato sauce, contains a few small seeds and most of the hairs. These are quite harmless and most people would be unaware of their presence but for the fastidious they may be removed by squeezing the pulp through a single layer of good cheesecloth.

Now measure the pulp and bring to boil with three quarters of its weight, or volume, of sugar or honey. We have obtained many satisfactory jellies with some kinds of crab apples. The small yellow, or red, Siberian crab is among the best for jelling.

The jam has been proclaimed good by more than a score of people who have tasted it!

The jam thus prepared contains 300-350 milligrams per cent vitamin C, that is five to seven times the concentration in orange juice. An ample daily supply of vitamin C for child or adult is thus furnished by about two teaspoonfuls of this rose hip jam.

The above method has the following advantages:

1. It uses a maximum of the nutritionally valuable part of the rose hip. Jellies contain only about one third of the vitamin C.

2. The crab-apple flavour to a large extent masks that of the rose hips.

3. The preparation is attractive and palatable with a vitamin C content several fold that found in citrus fruits.

4. It utilizes two hardy and dependable Canadian fruits, rose hips and crab-apples, and thus makes us nutritionally independent of citrus fruits.

5. There is no appreciable destruction of other vitamins in the process, and such jams may be stored in the ordinary fruit cellar for at least a year with very little loss of vitamin. This is a very remarkable and valuable property of rose hip preparations. Vitamin C is among the most easily destroyed of the vitamins but there are substances in rose hips that protect it against destruction.

Finally we may say that there exist various erroneous beliefs about rose hips. The only one we need mention here is the common statement that they should be "touched by frost" before picking. Our advice is to pick when ripe, that is deep red, and make jam as early as convenient. Also pick crab apples now and store in a cool place until the rose hips are ripe.

With such information we believe that there is now no excuse for any vitamin C deficiency in the food of Canadians.

A Disastrous Case History

By J. H. GRAY

As an instrument of German national policy, the German cartel system organized around I. G. Farben had two functions. The first was to provide Germany, by chemical research, with the instruments of war. It did this in 1914 with synthetic nitrogen. It did it in 1937-38 with synthetic rubber and synthetic gasoline. Of equal importance was its other function—of preventing the democracies from protecting themselves on the industrial front. They did this by restricting and curtailing our production of vital new materials of war.

Because of restrictions on production dictated by the German cartels, the United States, Canada, Great Britain and France found themselves in extreme peril at the outbreak of war. The German cartels had forced the democracies to restrict aluminum expansion while German aluminum production increased more than 10-fold. They prevented the giant American optical firm—Boech and Lomb—from selling directly needed field glasses and optical instruments to Great Britain and France. They forced Standard Oil to withhold licenses for making synthetic rubber from American rubber companies. They forced General Electric to restrict production of tungsten-carbide, a steel-hardening compound of immense value, while Germany increased her production in all directions.

The aluminum cartel is as good an example as any of the way in which the Germans worked and schemed. An aluminum cartel was in operation in Europe as early as 1928. In 1931 it took legal form with the incorporation in Switzerland of the Alliance Aluminum Company. This company was to fix the aluminum production of the world, exclusive of the United States. The ratio of ownership of shares was based upon production capacity. The members were the aluminum companies of Canada, Britain, France, Switzerland and Germany. Alliance fixed prices at satisfactorily high minimum figures. Instead of allotting markets, the usual dodge, the quota system was universally applied. By fixing total production and fixing prices, there was no need to divide up the markets.

Between 1930 and 1932 production of aluminum dropped by about 50 per cent in all countries, including the United States. After Hitler came to power, I. G. Farben recognized at once that the Alliance policy was not in the German national interest. Germany would need vast quantities of aluminum in its war preparations. The Germans announced that henceforth they were going to produce aluminum in large quantities. The other companies did not like this high-handed attitude. The Germans, however, hoodwinked them nicely. The German cartel agreed not to export any aluminum and hence would not interfere with the markets of the others. Further it agreed to advance its price in Germany for all aluminum not sold to the government. If it did do a little exporting occasionally, it guaranteed to buy an amount equal to its exports from the cartel.

By 1938 the need for aluminum in all countries had so expanded that the Alliance lapsed into dormancy. But the cartel had served the Germans well. It enabled them to get a jump of at least three years on the democracies in expanding aluminum production. The following table shows how German production skyrocketed after Hitler came to power and how the expansion in the democracies took a much slower pace:

According to Joseph Borkin and Charles A. Welsh in "Germany's Master Plan," by 1941 the aluminum production of Germany exceeded that of all the United Nations combined.

Of all the countries hit by the German aluminum cartel, none suffered perhaps as much as France. France could not muster enough aluminum to provide more than the merest token air force. The German cartels had a great hand in the German success in the battle of France in the summer of 1940. That the German air force failed in the battle of Britain was certainly not the fault of I. G. Farbenindustrie.

Director of Show Is Home on Leave

To have a troupe of his own and to overseas to entertain the men at the front, is the ambition of LAC. Howard Frederick McHaffey, whose success was with the air force show, "Bombs Away" put on by members of the No. 2 Bombing and Gunnery School, Mossbank, Sask., has won approval.

LAC. McHaffey was born and educated at Telford. He is a professional dancer and before entering the air force was on the stage as a comedian. In the last 10 years he has performed in 80 towns in Canada and England, besides the United States, Germany and Scotland. He taught dancing in Leduc, Lloydminster and Trail, B.C. He is now teaching the air force girls at Mossbank.

Although he "may not know one type of airplane from another," he feels he can be just as useful behind the footlights. "Certainly it is better to clown behind the footlights than in the air," he said.

Gleaned From Rural News

OLDS.—R. L. Stiles has proved that apples can be successfully grown here. He has an orchard on his farm in which there are 100 apple trees of different varieties. He has been especially successful with the transparent and delicious apples. Visitors from Edmonton this week were: Mrs. William Scott who spent some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Street; H. S. McIntyre, department of agriculture, formerly of here; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Erickson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Calvert and sons.

MILLET.—Miss C. McIntyre of the department of agriculture gave a talk and demonstration on Dry Cleaning, at the home of Mrs. R. Newbold, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Miss Joyce Gibling was the guest of honor at a farewell party held at the IOOF hall when 52 young people met to wish her good fortune in her new home. Miss Gibling was born here and for the last 14 months has been employed at the government telephone office. She has left with her family for Sault, B.C.

Decline Is Noted In Oil Production During Six Months

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Canadian production of crude petroleum and natural gasoline in June amounted to 524,500 barrels, compared with 538,400 in the previous month and 526,100 in the corresponding month last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Total output for the first six months of this year was 3,035,837 barrels, compared with 3,037,870 in the corresponding period of 1943. Alberta's production in June was recorded at 700,045 barrels, including 537,850 barrels from the Turner Valley field.

visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stickney. Pte. Morris Killewicz of Calgary, was a weekend visitor in Morrin. Tpr. T. Taylor, who has been serving in Italy, arrived on Aug. 25, to spend a furlough at his home here.

Ponoka Playground Is Proving Success

PONOKA.—Ponoka's supervised playground which was started in an experimental way last summer is being carried on successfully in the present season according to reports given at a meeting of the Home and School Association held Aug. 25 at which Peter Macdonald presided.

Miss Caine who is physical instructor and supervisor of the playground gave an interesting account of events taking place there during the summer. Interest had been maintained by instruction in handicraft, hobbies, story telling, physical training, organized games and ball games. Miss Caine has as her assistants Miss Lois Anne Bodgley and Miss Magdalene Unfried. The summer program will end Sept. 16 and the annual picnic will be held on Sept. 14.

During September this community will lose three families who have been prominent in community activities. Cpl. P. Christophers, RCMP, has been transferred to Edmonton and with his family will take up residence there early in September. Cpl. Christophers has been here four years. Mr. and Mrs. M. Perrin and son Freddie are leaving for Calgary, where Mr. Perrin has accepted a position with the public school board as an instructor in shop work. Word has also been received that D. L. Jerrold who has been in charge of the local treasury branch for the last year or more has been appointed manager of the treasury branch in Grande Prairie. The family will leave for that point soon.

Doe Finds Haven On Glendon Farm

GLENDON.—A short time ago Mrs. Olaf Wiste while mowing grass found a small doe in a clump of trees and brought it to the house. It at once proceeded to make itself at home and follows members of the family around. It thrives well on a milk bottle and has also taken a fancy to fine cut tobacco, although refusing plug tobacco. It will stand on its hind feet, place its forefeet against one's chest, and search one's pockets for its favorite dainty of fine cut tobacco. The little creature has her own lair in the woods but always comes to the house at mealtime for her drink of milk and a little oatmeal and of course any tobacco it can get.

Arvid, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Finkelsrud suffered severe bruises when a piece of concrete culvert tile he was attempting to lift fell on top of him pinning him down until help arrived. He was taken to the hospital in Bonnyville for examination. No bones were broken but he has to use crutches in getting around.

See Wheat Surplus 1,000,000,000 Bus.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A wheat carry-over of approximately 1,000,000,000 bushels on July 31, 1945, was estimated at the bi-annual meeting of the international wheat committee council which ended here yesterday.

The council concluded that that volume of wheat would be available for relief of the war-ravaged areas or for any other purpose now unforeseen.

The council is composed of representatives of Argentina, Australia, Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States. Charles Wilson of Ottawa represented Canada at the meeting.

The council concluded that the total stocks of old wheat in Canada, the United States, Australia and the Argentine on July 31, 1944, of slightly less than 1,000,000,000 bushels, could be added an estimated 1944 production of nearly 2,000,000,000 bushels.

Deducting an estimated 700,000,000 bushels for food purposes and another 700,000,000 for seed and industrial uses, and exports from the four producing countries of 600,000,000 bushels, the council estimated the July 31, 1945 carry-over at approximately 1,000,000,000 bushels.

50 Cents an Hour For Labor Urged In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for all classes of labor in Saskatchewan and the application of the minimum wage order to cover all occupations in the province, including farms labor, were among recommendations made to the first hearing of the newly constituted Saskatchewan minimum wage board, Tuesday.

Seven recommendations were made to the new board in a brief submitted by J. M. Toothill on behalf of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers, affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor. A brief was also submitted by the provisional executive of the Saskatchewan Federation of Labor of the C.C.L.

49 Polio Cases Reported in N.B.

FREDERICTON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Infantile paralysis cases in New Brunswick have exceeded the normal rate of incidence with 49 reported to date, Dr. C. W. MacMillan, chief medical officer for the province, said yesterday. Six new cases were reported this week in Saint John, Kings and York counties. Of the 49 listed so far this summer, only one required in death—St. Frederic.

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE SEINE, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Canadian engineers did their greatest work of the French campaign in bridging the tidal Seine south of Rouen, laying a path for Canadian tanks and infantry advancing on Rouen and the area southeast and east of the city.

Role of Small Lands in Peace Set-Up Studied

By FLORA LEWIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—British, Russian and American delegates to Dumbarton Oaks security talks were reported yesterday to be reaching agreement on the role of smaller countries in a future world peace organization.

The plan to have a council of 11 members at the top of the security agency has met with general favor, it was learned. A settlement seems in the offing that would require a majority vote by the council, including the big four, for some types of decisions and a two-thirds vote for the most important decisions.

Chinese ideas parallel this view, it is understood. State Secretary Hull said that working out machinery for maintaining peace and security was the exclusive concern of the conference, and it is understood that China has agreed to leave aside for the moment the question of the future of Japanese mandated islands and Korea, just as the other powers are shelving European and African territorial questions.

Mr. Hull also told his news conference he believed the final charter for the security organization would go before Congress separately from any treaty settling the war.

China is not represented at the current Dumbarton Oaks meetings because Russia is not at war with Japan, but a Chinese memorandum on world security has been circulated among the conferees and Dr. Wellington Koo, chief Chinese delegate, has been informed of Russian proposals.

PLANS LATER TALKS

The Chinese will join British and American delegates in talks at the conclusion of discussions with the Russians, probably at the end of next week.

It now appears unlikely that the question of whether France will have a permanent seat on the future organization's council will be settled at Dumbarton Oaks, although the door remains open.

Full Discussion Of Laws Urged

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Full democratic discussion of any regulation with the force of law was advocated here yesterday by E. C. Leale, K.C. of Regina, speaking before the 27th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association.

In a discussion of "quasi" legislation, he said such regulations should not be drawn up and passed by a few secluded in a room. He said such enactments disregard "the democratic process" which he termed the free discussion of a free legislature elected by free electors. He said the sooner "power is returned to parliament, the better it will be."

In his presidential address earlier yesterday, Hon. R. L. Maitland, attorney-general of British Columbia, told the association he believed "we can look forward to lasting peace with a hope such as there never was before."

Resigns Post

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Dr. George M. Weir, acting director of training for the federal department of pensions and health, has resigned and will return to the University of British Columbia Sept. 1. The U.B.C. board of governors announced yesterday. Dr. Weir was formerly professor of education at U.B.C.

Seek "Outlet" For Energies Of Servicemen

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Education and recreation should be used to utilize the time and maintain the morale of service personnel during the pre-demobilization period, Sqdn. Ldr. R. W. Hopper, RCAF, said yesterday in an address before the National Council on Physical Fitness.

Addressing the council's second general meeting, which concluded last night, Sqdn. Ldr. Hopper said the basic problem was to prevent demoralization of approximately 720,000 service men and 31,500 women while they were awaiting demobilization and the return to civilian life.

SERVICES CONCERNED With the cessation of training, several hundreds of thousands of men would be left with nothing to do but normal camp duties, Sqdn. Ldr. Hopper said. The services were "greatly concerned" with the question of providing recreation.

Community resources would be heavily strained at a time when thoughts of civilians and service personnel alike turned to peacetime activities, and a great opportunity would be created for inter-service, fraternization, the exchange of visits and friendly competition.

"This should be done so that men in future will leave their own service knowing something of the others," said Sqdn. Ldr. Hopper. Sqdn. Ldr. Hopper said music, hobbies and handicrafts offered outlets for the energies of those in the forces awaiting demobilization. Discussions had been held looking to the establishment of a school for training leaders to participate in the expanded pre-demobilization recreational program.

New Helicopter Is Tested in U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A new type of helicopter which eliminates the customary tail propeller and overcomes torque by using super-imposed, contra-rotating two-blade rotors, was demonstrated yesterday to the navy, army and national advisory committee for aeronautics by its inventor, 18-year-old Stanley Hiller of Berkeley, Friday he will report for induction into the army.

The ship rose vertically, hovered, swung in a circle, inched forward, slid backward and landed within a foot of the take-off spot.

Young Hiller, son of a pioneer Pacific flier and steamship company president, said the experimental ship had a speed of about 100 miles and hour and cruises at from 1 1/4 to 80 miles an hour. Its longest flight so far has been about 90 miles.

Banker Killed

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A broadcast from Paris yesterday said Norman Lewis, investment banker and former Paris representative of the Eastman Dillon Company, was killed accidentally in his Paris apartment by a stray bullet during street fighting Aug. 24.

While this was going on other engineers ferried assault infantry over the Seine and these troops gained ground into which other bridges were built.

It was a close, co-ordinated plan and worked well. The Germans did not interfere a great deal with the bridging although some engineer companies were under fire for brief periods.

Appeals to Supreme Court on Behalf Of Sect Members

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31.—(CP)—C. Walter Hodgson, counsel for several Doukhobors now serving sentences for public disordering said yesterday he has filed an appeal with the supreme court of Canada against a decision of the British Columbia appeal court which prevented their freedom on habeas corpus proceedings.

Mr. Hodgson said the appeal will be heard at the opening of the fall term in October.

The 12 Doukhobors, members of the radical Sons of Freedom sect, were convicted of disturbing in demonstrations at Vancouver.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

NOW that both HMCS Nonsuch and Combines are definite starters in the Junior Football League and as games with the University of Alberta also are assured, Edmontonians can look forward to at least a reasonable amount of action on the grid front during the coming weeks. And football is the one perfect game for days when that fall tang is in the air.

Securing the services of Bill Harris as secretary-treasurer looks like a neat stroke of business for the Junior League. But then, the interim between baseball and hockey always has been the blank in Bill's sport calendar. Now the 365 days appear to be adequately taken care of.

Ken McAuley, the new coach for the Combines is largely responsible for the revival of the junior circuit. In fact most of the spade work was done by him and Doug Stevenson. The Combines are in good hands.

RATHER LAME EXCUSE
WIRE of August 29 received by Clare Hollingsworth from Coach Gideon of Vancouver Neons, says, "Train schedules compel us to stop in Edmonton September third to sixth en route to Cleveland. If championship games cannot be arranged would like exhibition games... please wire reply."

Tom Clark of the same club claimed, "to get their special tourist car they had to leave on Sept. 2 and stop over in Edmonton three days and Saskatoon three days."

Looks to be rather a puny attempt to explain away failure to implement the original plan whereby Army and Navy Pats

Youthful Players Do Well

Big Upsets in First Round U.S. Tennis Championships

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The youth movement struck the United States tennis championships Wednesday when a quartet of players, familiar figures to the galleries for several seasons, were eliminated in the first round.

Sidney B. Wood of New York, winner of England's Wimbledon championship in 1931 and a top-flight player for more than a dozen years, was the principal upset victim, falling before young Charley Oliver of Perth Amboy, N.J., 6-3, 6-1.

Wood was the only seeded player to go out, but Lieut. Gilbert A. Hunt of Washington, D.C., a notable upsetter of ranking stars, failed to turn the trick against six-seeded air cadet Bobby Falkenberg of Hollywood, Calif., in an all-army match and Mrs. Helen Pedersen Ribbany of New York and Katharine Whitnorp of South Hamilton, Mass., ninth and 10th respectively in the women's national rankings, failed to survive their first-round matches.

SHIRLY FRY WINS
Falkenberg, seeded sixth, pulled out his tussle with Hunt after losing the first set, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1. Eight-seeded Shirley Fry, national girls' champion from Akron, Ohio, downed Mrs. Ribbany in a strenuous tussle, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of Hidden Valley, Calif., a former first-10 player who was out of competition last year, eliminated Miss Whitnorp, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The other seeded stars, with the exception of Mexico's Armando Vega, came through in good style. Francisco Segura of Ecuador, top-seeded trimmed Pte. Davis S. Johnson of Washington, D.C., 6-2, 6-3; Navy Lt. Don McNeill, the 1940 national champion and second-ranking favorite, had to work a little harder against Army Lt. Billy Gillespie of Grand Island, Neb., but won 6-3, 10-8.

PAULINE COMES THROUGH
Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, winner of the women's title for the past two years, met Mrs. Eleanor Purdy Cushingham of Warrenton, Fla., in her opening match for the second successive year and beat her, 6-4, 6-3.

Armando Vega of Mexico, seeded were to play in Vancouver, and at the same time work in a few exhibition games.

It will be news to most people too that anybody has to remain over here three days due to train schedules. This corner is advised that it is not, and has not been possible for many moons to secure such a luxury as a "special tourist car."

HERE AND THERE
CAPTAIN DAVIS, sports officer at Camp Lewis and with the ball team when they played Yanks here on Sunday informed this operator that the camp would have its own football team this fall—which seems to be proof that the game is considered to have merit in conditioning.

Either Dodgers or Signals will be sitting in the golden seat, so far as the semi-finals are concerned, after tonight's game at Renfrew Park. The winner can then wind up the series on Sunday, but failing that will have another chance on Tuesday.

Last Tuesday's was the 61st game to be played at Renfrew this season, which opened on May 21, and the crowd appeared to be one of the largest to attend a night game. Evidently citizens in this bailiwick like their baseball.

Ralph-Docherty and Kinloch-MacManus Farthest Advanced in City Tennis

Two Semi-Final Slots Filled in Doubles

One Match Takes Close To 3 Hours

Two semi-final slots in the men's doubles event of the city tennis tournament being played at Glenora courts were filled Wednesday night when the pairs of Bill Ralph and George Docherty, and Harry Kinloch and Les McManus entered that stage.

Ralph and Docherty of Civil Service eliminated clubmates Bob Holles and George Schmid to reach the semi-finals, but it took them over two and a half hours to do it.

It was the marathon match of the night. The winners won the first set 6-1 and Holles and Schmid took the second, but the third turned into a real battle before Ralph and Docherty finally won out 16-14. The semi-finalists broke through Schmid's service and then Ralph took his own to end the match.

Ralph and Docherty now meet the other semi-finalists, Kinloch and McManus from Garneau. Kinloch and McManus advanced by defeating the Batchelor-McKay combination 6-2, 6-1.

WALTER MCINTOSH WINS
In the only man's singles game on last night's draw, Walter McIntosh won from Les McManus in two straight sets, 6-0 and 6-4.

Norma Mackay eliminated Cal Holmgren without too much difficulty 6-1, 6-1 and Betty Hume won from Pearl Warren 6-2, 3-6, 6-1 in a pair of ladies' singles matches. Pearl gave Betty plenty of trouble, however, before bowing out.

Lola Mackay was ousted from the ladies' singles by Doris Walton 6-1, 6-3, and Isobel Hooper, defending champ, defeated Helen Coe in the only other matches drawn.

In the mixed doubles, George McFadden and Lois Belyea took the measure of Guy MacFarlane and Ann Brodie 6-2, 6-4. In the other men's doubles match played last night, John Harvie and Al Potter eliminated Bill Henning and Alf Jackson 6-2, 6-1.

SINGLES TO FEATURE DRAW

Today's draw features men's open singles. On the 5:30 p.m. draw the Bob Holles vs. George Schmid match promises to be a tight struggle and is sure to produce some good tennis.

Les McManus will meet Ralph Smith in the Mitchell Cup and Doris Walton will meet Irma McManus in the Bulletin Cup. All these matches will be well worth watching.

In the 6 o'clock draw Alf Potter and George McFadden will battle in the men's singles.

On the 6:45 p.m. draw Betty Hume and Frances Gordon meet Helen Wolfe and Sophie Mighall in the ladies' open doubles. These two teams already met in the finals of the Civil Service tennis tournament when Wolfe and Mighall got the nod after some spectacular tennis.

There are also two mixed doubles matches on this draw. Murray Warren and Pearl Warren meet Les McManus and Irma McManus in a family affair and Don Graves and Helen Lilly meet Bob Holles and Hazel Coe. In the men's singles Tudor Edmunds meets Bruce Henning and Alf Jackson meets George Docherty.

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS

DAVE CASTILLOUX Takes Decision

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Dave Castilloux, Canadian holder of the lightweight and welterweight titles, last night displayed his ring mastery here, when he scored a clean cut decision over Santiago Sosa, Cuban lightweight titleholder. The Canadian weighed 134½; Sosa 133½.

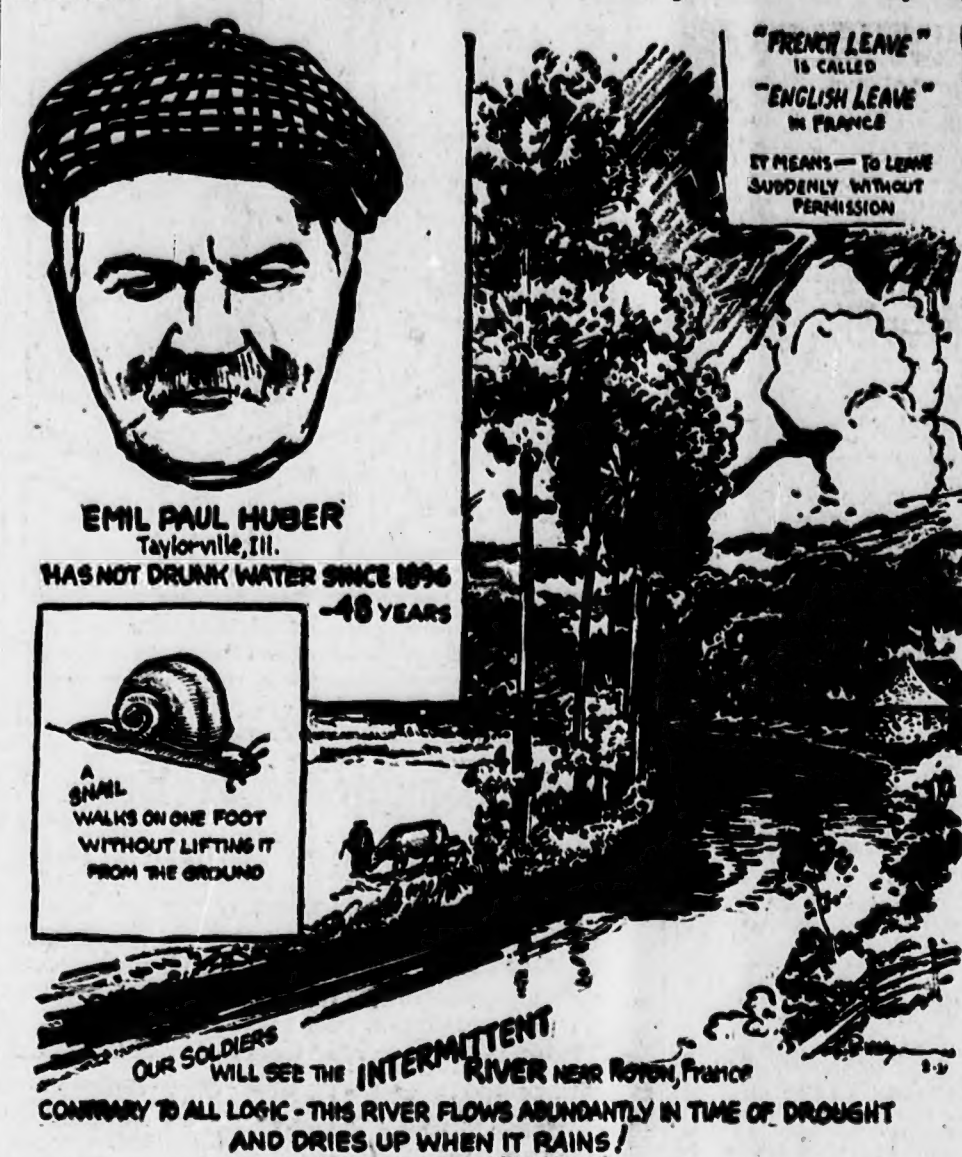

Appearing in his second bout since getting out of the RCAF, Castilloux had too much ring generalship for Sosa. The judges voted unanimously for the French-Canadian and the Canadian Press scorecard voted six rounds for Castilloux, one for Sosa and three even. There were no knockdowns.

Arthur Ross, Jr. Is Reported Safe

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—The RCAF last night received from overseas confirmation of a Boston report that Flt. Lt. Arthur Ross, Jr. son of the general manager of the Boston Bruins, was safe in Paris after being reported missing near Falaise June 11.

Air force headquarters gave no further details.

Ken McAuley, Combines Coach

City Junior Football League To Open on Friday, Sept. 8

OPENING game of the Edmonton Junior Football League will be played under the floodlights at Clarke Stadium on Friday, Sept. 8, with HMCS Nonsuch and Combines the opposing clubs. Starting time will be 8 p.m.

It was announced following Wednesday night's meeting that Ken McAuley had been named coach and Smythe Fleming manager of the Combines. W. G. (Bill) Harris has accepted the position of secretary-treasurer of the league.

A schedule for the season will be announced within a few days, but with the exception of the opening, games will be played on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Tentative arrangements were also made for a game with University of Alberta at Varsity Stadium during the afternoon of Saturday, September 30.

This will be the first year for the Navy to be represented in local junior football and the sailors are reported to be a classy grid squad with several experienced players on the roster, many already having taken part in junior games here. Coach of the Tars is Surgeon-Lieut. McCallum.

It will not be known definitely for a few days whether or not 4 I.T.S. will be able to enter a team, but in any event, Navy and Combines are certain starters and dates also will be arranged with Varsity in addition to Sept. 30.

Plans are also underway to have a Calgary team play here at least once during the regular schedule. Edmonton will be represented in the Alberta junior playoffs again this year.

Sports . . . Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The recently-revised discussion of whether match play provides a true test of golfing ability leaves this corner cold. . . . The argument against match play is that a player can blow a couple of holes with 7s and 8s and still win. . . . But in a 72-hole round tournament, the guy who runs a round that way still has three chances to make it up, so what's the difference. . . . After expending a lot of thought on a scoring system that would give credit both for match-play victories and medal scores, we found no way of making allowances for the ability to win when the chips are down, and its human fallibility that makes golf interesting. . . . Any good mechanic could devise a machine that would shoot better than Byron Nelson, but no one would put up $50,000 prize money for it to win.

He'll whistle for it. Bill Helis, who takes his money out of oil and puts it into horses, has made such a pet of his $66,000 colt, Pericles, that the horse follows him around Rancocas Farm and responds eagerly when Helis whistles. . . . When Bill was showing off the horse's tricks to a group of visiting newspapermen the other day, one scribe wisecracked: "If he ever wants to win a race, he'll have to stand at the finish line and whistle."

Along about September or October (when the baseball season is over) those high-powered navy ball teams at Norfolk, Great Lakes, Sampson and Bainbridge will be

Coach

Ken McAuley has been named coach of the Combines, entry of the four city athletic clubs—South Side, Canadian, Edmonton and Maple Leaf—in the Junior Football League. In addition to being active in both football and baseball, Ken has been prominent in hockey circles for some years. Last season he was goalie for New York Rangers in the N.H.L.

Society Futurity Set for Sept. 1

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Nineteen candidates have been named for the Standard Bred Society Futurity for three-year-olds—Canada's richest harness horse race—it was announced Wednesday. This year's Futurity will be held at Stratford, Ont., Labor Day, Sept. 4, and the purse will be $6,000—$3,000 for pacers and $3,000 for trotters.

The fields of nine trotters and 10 pacers are the largest in both divisions in many years. The sole western Canada entry is Mr. Lee, bay gelding owned by A. D. Harrison of Brandon, Man. He will run in the three-year-old Futurity race.

Dodgers to Play Signals Tonight

Dodgers and U.S. Signals played the third game of their best-of-five semi-final playoff series at Renfrew Park tonight, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Johnny Rippey, Eddie Robinson and Frankie Marino of Norfolk already have received their orders and Elbie Fletcher, Fred Chapman, Sherry Robertson, Maxie Wilson, Truck Fernandez and Bob Scheffing are due to leave Bainbridge. . . . MOOSE JAW, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Saskatoon Pats turned defeat into victory to take a nightcap game 4-3 from Moose Jaw Royals in the best-of-five series for the Saskatchewan senior ladies' fastball title. They dropped an afternoon affair 3-0.

The series is now tied at two games each. The nightcap was played before a crowd of more than 3,000. In the sixth inning Pats, trailing 3-1, turned on Millie Smith, Royals pitcher, for four hits which, coupled with a double steal produced three runs and turned defeat into victory.

Outstanding Jock Called Too Old Four Years Ago

By HARRY GRAYSON

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—In the Jocks' room they refer to Stanley Freeman as the boss-crazy kid from Jackson, Mich., but the truth is that he isn't a kid at all. On August 11, he was 27. He's light, however, being able to make 105 pounds, and he's still a bug rider in the apprentice class.

This has helped Freeman to be a mild sensation at Washington Park, where he booted home four winners the other afternoon—three in a row, including the daily double—and two seconds in seven mounts.

Probably if there was not a war on, creating a scarcity of jockeys, Freeman would not have been given the opportunity to show his skill. Apprentices usually start when they are 17 or younger.

Freeman's mother talked him into passing up the thoroughbred to clerk in a Jackson hardware store. When he was 17 he had a yen to be what he is today. On vacation he would hike to a nearby farm and hang around horses.

Four long years he was in the store, but managed to get in a lot of time around the local livery stables so he could keep his hand in with horses.

JOCKEY STRIKES OUT AT 23

Not until 1940 did Freeman obtain his parents' consent to attempt to satisfy his ambition. He was 23 when he went to the Detroit Fair Grounds and was told that he was too old. Following much pleading, he hooked on with J. S. Jones, who was long on horses but short on winners and money. Freeman alert in the back room, walked "hots" for 25 cents a head, hustled many a short meal.

Freeman's first lift came late that fall when he was engaged to gallop yearlings on famous Calumet Farm, hard by Lexington. He was with Whirlaway and the big Warren Wright outfit that went west to Santa Anita, but the good fortune did not last long. War called off the meeting so he spent the winter galloping steeds.

Freeman was not destined to get a chance to ride in races until 1942, when he broke in on Chicago tracks. Mounts were few and he got nowhere. He returned to Jackson, where he worked in a war plant.

This would have been a rather discouraging end to the story except that this Freeman is a persistent sort. In September, 1943, he showed up at Cincinnati's River Downs and rode his first winner on a horse called Petty Officer.

C. H. Williams took him to Churchill Downs, where trainer Jack Hanover, a pretty fair rider himself some years back, was impressed to the extent that he purchased his contract for the H. Friedberg stable.

SMITH SEES HIM AS FIND

Freddie Smith tutored and guided him, says that if there is a new boy to shine this year as a find he will be Stanley Freeman. In his wandering in the fall of 1941, Freeman met a lass from the hills of Kentucky, who was studying in Lexington to be a nurse. They were married.

Stanley Freeman earned his breaks. In the first eight days alone of the invasion campaign Allied aircraft flew 36,000 sorties.

Outstanding Jock Called Too Old Four Years Ago

By HARRY GRAYSON

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—In the Jocks' room they refer to Stanley Freeman as the boss-crazy kid from Jackson, Mich., but the truth is that he isn't a kid at all. On August 11, he was 27. He's light, however, being able to make 105 pounds, and he's still a bug rider in the apprentice class.

This has helped Freeman to be a mild sensation at Washington Park, where he booted home four winners the other afternoon—three in a row, including the daily double—and two seconds in seven mounts.

Probably if there was not a war on, creating a scarcity of jockeys, Freeman would not have been given the opportunity to show his skill. Apprentices usually start when they are 17 or younger.

Freeman's mother talked him into passing up the thoroughbred to clerk in a Jackson hardware store. When he was 17 he had a yen to be what he is today. On vacation he would hike to a nearby farm and hang around horses.

Four long years he was in the store, but managed to get in a lot of time around the local livery stables so he could keep his hand in with horses.

Gutteridge Told He Could Help By Playing Second—And He Did

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Donald Joe Gutteridge reported to the Browns at DeLand, Fla., on a look-see basis in the spring of 1942.

Donald L. Barnes and Co., had until May 13 to pay for the dark-complected Kansas school teacher. The Cardinals had given up on him to that extent, although he batted .309, drove in 88 runs and led Pacific Coast League base-stealers for the Sacramento subsidiary.

Don Gutteridge was late in reporting to the Browns. Don Gutteridge had never played second base, but inasmuch as the former Red Bird was brought up as a utility infielder, Luke Sewell realized that there was no time like the present to see what he could do on the other side of the bag.

The first thing Manager Sewell noticed was that Gutteridge, a side-arm thrower, threw better from the right side of the infield.

Grasping the possibilities, Sewell let Gutteridge know that he could help the club by playing second base. He told him to take his time and work out his own problems.

MISCAST FOR 10 YEARS

Gutteridge has been on second base ever since and is the life of the pennant-bound St. Louis American League party.

Quick to get the jump on a ball and of blazing speed, Gutteridge makes seemingly impossible, stand-up-and-cheer plays.

Gutteridge saved the first game of the last and highly important Yankee series. With two on and two out, he sprinted far to his left to get both hands on what appeared to be a sure hit, whirled completely around to throw out the batter.

The Yankees are still wondering where he came from late in the second game, when he caught Bud Metheny's bloop back of first base and in a spot where the ball ordinarily drops for a base hit.

In the eighth inning of the final engagement, after Johnny Lindell had singled in Snuffy Stirrweiss, Gutteridge killed the rally and retired the side by making possible the rarely seen three-four-three play. He paddled the ball back

Yankees Move Into 2nd Spot By Defeating Red Sox 9-7

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—New York Yankees moved into second place in the American League standing, 3½ games behind the league leading St. Louis Browns, when they outslugged Boston Red Sox 9-7 before 7,929 fans Wednesday.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's defeat by Chicago White Sox, gave the Yankees a half-game lead over the Tigers and the Red Sox, who are tied for third place.

Though all three home runs hit in the game were made by the Red Sox, the Yankees batted out 16 safeties, good for six extra bases. Nick Eiten paced the New York attack with four hits, including a double and triple.

CLEVELAND COMES FROM BEHIND

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Amazing eight runs in the eighth inning, Cleveland Indians came from behind to defeat the American League-leading St. Louis Browns 12-7 Wednesday and win a split of their two-game series.

Seven pitchers, four Indians and three Browns, saw service during the contest.

St. Louis shortstop Vern Stephens hit his 18th home run of the season in the sixth inning.

Riding Winner In 1938 Derby Arcaro's Thriller

By EDDIE ARCARO

Famous Jockey

WINNING the Kentucky Derby for the first time on Lawrin in 1938 gave me a thrill I'll never forget. I had finished no better than fourth three years before on the favorite, Nellie Flag, and regarded my prevailing aboard Lawrin, fourth choice in the betting, as sort of a vindication.

I rated the big son of Inco off the pace as Menow thought it with Fighting Fox, the favorite. Saving ground, I got Herbert M. Woolf's colt through on the inside.

Passing Fighting Fox, he wore down Menow, and I thought it was over. Suddenly Lawrin bore out, however, and my eyes popped out when I saw Dauber lunge up alongside of me from nowhere. I went to the whip.

Lawrin responded gamely with a spurt that almost threw me out of the saddle and hurled him across the finish a length to the good.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—

There's an interesting sign of the times in Winnipeg, where it's rumored the services may organize six-man football to make the best of the straitened manpower situation. The league would draw its membership from the RCAF, Canadian Army and Navy units, and United States Army representatives.

Six-man was dreamed-up by Nebraska-born Stephen Epler, originally an easier game for Syd Thomas, high school and junior college footballers. It is played on a field 80 yards by 40 yards, and features lateral and forward passing, rather than the bone-and-muscle contact of the regulation game. With fewer players on the field there is less bodily contact and more attention to the finer details of organized team-play and combination with consequent higher scoring.

Winnipeg high schools have tried the game before, but if the proposed league is formed it will be the first such an ambitious scale.

His Outstanding Game:

Ralph (North Bay Nugget) Adams recalls what he thinks is the high point in Phil Marchildon's pitching career. Phil, now reported missing overseas with the R.C.A.F., was a coming star with Philadelphia Athletics before he donned the uniform, and hurled some fine games in the big league. But Adams still prefers Marchildon's 12-inning battle for Penatanguishene against North Bay in the 1934 Intermediate Ontario Baseball finals. Penatanguishene won that game 2-1.

Pro Grid League Opens on Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—(AP)—

The American Professional Football League opens its first season Sunday with six of the eight teams lumbering onto the gridirons of three Pacific Coast cities.

Only the Oakland Hornets and the Los Angeles Mustangs will not see action.

Elmer (Gloomy Gus) Henderson's Los Angeles Wildcats will meet coach Ed Storm's Bombers at San Diego. Coach Bill Sargent will take his Hollywood Rangers to San Francisco, where they will face off against the Clippers, tutored by Mike Pecarovich, long coach at Gonzaga University.

The other contest will send Dutch Clark's Seattle club against Bobby Rowe's Portland Rockets at Portland.

Sept. 8th Is Date For Preliminary Murder Hearing

Preliminary hearing of a charge of murder, against 24-year-old Paul Abraham, Cherrill district half-breed, by Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will be held in city police court, on Friday, Sept. 8, it was learned Thursday.

Abraham is alleged to have shot and killed his wife on the evening of July 18, after a family quarrel at which the father of the woman, and chief of the tribe, was present. The quarrel was said to have ended with the woman rushing from the tent and her husband occupied, while the latter picked up a gun and followed her into the bushes.

Woman's Dress Is Said Cause of Horses Bolting

The menfolk aren't the only ones sometimes startled by female wearing apparel. Jack Cummings, 11408 80 street, driver of a team and wagon, can testify to that fact. Late Wednesday afternoon, all was peaceful with Jack and his team when suddenly the horses broke out of control. They plunged into a lane, across a potato patch, across 95 street, the driver all the time holding onto his lines. When the horses climbed the curb on the other side of the street, Jack hit his head on the cement and was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital. He was treated for cuts about the head and injuries to his hip.

Urges Action on Jesuit College Urging immediate action regarding taking over Jesuit College to house service men's dependents, W. J. Williams, M.L.A., secretary-manager of the Canadian Legion, Edmonton branch on Thursday wired J. A. Hall, director of Wartime Housing Ltd., Toronto. "Termining the housing situation with returned men and their families, and also dependents of service men overseas duty, Mr. Williams asked for action to avert unnecessary trouble. "There are about 300 families faced with the threat of eviction on Sept. 30," Mr. Williams stated. "Only this morning I had a delegation from the YWCA asking me if something couldn't be done for these men. They said they knew of cases where the husband had to live in one house and the wife in another. They meet a great many cases of returning casualties and are aware of the bitter feeling of the men." At a meeting of the legion last Sunday unanimous approval was given a resolution urging the Dominion government to turn over Jesuit College for the temporary accommodation of service men and their dependents.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Nagger, Man or Woman
Cannot Be Reformed

Unfortunate Victims Must Either Decide to Endure
Browbeating or Leave Home; No Other
Outlet Is Possible

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married two years. Nothing that I do pleases my husband. He nags me until my life is not worth living. He has scared me into trying to be everything I think he wants me to be until I feel like a puppet that he works with a string. I have tried everything, reasoning, encouraging, reasoning, giving into him, but to no avail. He just nags.

I don't want our marriage to break up if we can manage to get it on an equal basis, but I don't know how to do it. What can I do?

NAGGED WIFE.

Answer: We always think of nagging as a feminine vice, but men have no monopoly on it. Men have it, too, and a man nagger is 10 times worse than a woman because he sits in the boss's seat, whether he is a husband or an employer. A woman, in especial, has to submit to all of her husband's moods and tempers, have him object to her every plan; criticize everything she does; blame her for everything from the price of food having gone up to the weather, and take it and like it. Or take it without liking it.

But the woman nagger's style is more or less cramped by the fact that she is dependent on her husband, and that he can get away from her most of the time, and that she is practically reduced to doing her nagging at the breakfast table and the hour or two after dinner. Also, she is handicapped by the curious ability that husbands acquire of being able to shut their ears to nagging and not hearing a word that Friend Wife is saying when she tells them for the millionth time of their faults and shortcomings.

There is no way of reforming a nagger, whether male or female. Not even a miracle worker could pull off such a stunt as changing him or her. The only thing their unfortunate mates can do is either to make up their minds to spend their lives being harried and browbeaten, or else put on their hats and leave.

DOROTHY DIX.

THESE WOMEN!

"Why can't I go out tonight? This was always the MAID'S night out!"

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG, MAGGIE

I am convinced, as I said the other day, that many of the everyday complaints—or infirmities if there are no audible complaints of people who were young when you and I were young, Maggie, are due to insufficient vitamin B-complex, calcium and vitamin D intake.

When I think or speak of calcium (lime) shortage or deficiency in adults of mature age I think of the two best food sources of calcium for mature or elderly folk—namely milk and greens or green vegetables. And when I think of milk as the indispensable source of calcium (not to mention other essential nutritional factors) for mature adults who want to have vim, I think of fresh raw milk, pasteurized milk, Grade A raw from tuberculin tested cows, and old milk made safe by bringing to a boil for one minute only, skim milk, separator milk, buttermilk, sour milk, evaporated milk, condensed milk, dry powdered milk, cream, beverages consisting chiefly of milk flavors or sweetened, Bulgarian sour milk, Acidophilus milk, milk whey and any and every kind of cheese.

For the absorption, utilization and retention of calcium (and phosphorus) an adequate daily intake of vitamin D is required. Best way to get your daily ration of vitamin D is to manufacture your own, which you do if you expose enough of your skin to direct sunlight or to diffuse daylight—skyshine, the portion of sunlight that comes through clouds or the light that reaches the skin when you take your air bath in a shaded place.

Now there is where too many misguided elderly folk err grievously. They permit one bad habit, custom, prejudice or another to keep them from enjoying their place in the sun. So they suffer from vitamin D deficiency. So they fail to assimilate, utilize and retain the amount of calcium (and phosphorus) required to keep the body well.

Among the infirmities or complaints of elderly folk whose daily intake of vitamin B-complex, vitamin D and calcium phosphorus is deficient, deficient not only this week, month or season but through the years, these are the most frequent. I gather from what they write me:

1. Lack of "pep," need for a "good tonic."

2. Rheumatism.

3. Cramps in legs (sometimes in arms) disturbing rest at night—adult tetany. I call it.

4. Fatigability.

None of these complaints, remember, please, nor all of them together spell old age. Rather they are manifestations of nutritional deficiency, particularly deficiency of B-complex, D and calcium-phosphorus. At least I have observed that an adequate daily intake of B-complex, D and the high-calcium foods (particularly milk, cheese, greens, peas, beans, nuts, peanuts) prevents or dispels these complaints in a great many instances—and this is not medicine. Keep that fact clearly in mind. It is just good nutrition.

The correct play is to cash the ace of hearts, lead a small heart to the king, cash the ace of diamonds and discard a club from dummy. Ruff a small heart in dummy with the deuce of spades, lead a heart and ruff in the South hand with the jack of spades. Another diamond is ruffed in dummy, a small club is ruffed by South with the queen of spades, and the jack of diamonds is ruffed with dummy's last trump. West showed out on the third lead of hearts, and East showed out on the fourth round of diamonds. Now the declarer has a perfect count on the West hand. West has shown up with two hearts, a singleton club and six diamonds. Therefore he must have all of the missing spades. A small club is led from dummy, declarer trumps with the three of spades and West overtrumps with the four. Now West must lead away from the eight-six-five of trumps into declarer's aching seven. This is an exceptionally fine trump end-play.

Marian Fraser Guest at Tea

Seventy-five guests are expected to call Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Fraser, when she entertains at a trousseau tea in compliment to her daughter, Marian, whose marriage to PO John Aron Michaelson, RCAF, will take place on Tuesday.

Bouquets of sweetpeas, asters, and gladioli will be arranged throughout the drawing room, and the tea table will be set with a Chinese hand made cloth. Asters and sweetpeas, together with tall lighted tapers in silver holders will complete the arrangement.

To receive, Mrs. Fraser will wear a street length dress of old rose crepe, complemented by a corsage of violets, and the bride-elect will be attired in a black crepe model frock trimmed with black lace and a corsage of cream roses.

Dorothy Fraser, young sister of the bride-to-be, will welcome the guests at the door. Pouring tea will be the Misses Doris Little, Muriel Hales, Eloise Moore, and Shirley Milne. Assistants will include the Misses Jean Barefoot, Mollie Davidson and Viola Meredith.

Miss Frances Little and Miss Jean Fraser will display the trousseau.

Scott-Seaton Nuptials Held

Under an archway banked with summer flowers, at an early morning ceremony, Aug. 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seaton, Luscar, the marriage took place of their younger daughter, Miss Renee Seaton, and Andrew Scott, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Scott of Luscar and Edmonton. The Rev. T. Stainton of the United church, Edson, officiated.

The rooms were decorated with tall standards of gladioli and bowls of multi-colored sweetpeas. Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a two-piece gown of blue crepe, with matching shoulder length veil falling softly from a Juliet cap of seed pearls. She wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. A. Domenichell, the bride's only sister attended as matron-of-honor wearing a dress of old gold crepe, with brown accessories. Miss Margaret Trapp, Edson, was bridesmaid. She wore a two-piece street-length dress of blue.

A. Domenichell was best man. Mrs. William J. Thomas sang "Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony a buffet wedding breakfast was served. The bride's table was set with a lace cloth centred with a three tiered wedding cake. Tall white tapers and white vases of sweetpeas completed the table decorations.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Scott left on a wedding trip, to be away two weeks. On their return they will live at Luscar.

Truman Warns U.S. Experienced Leader Should Be Elected

LAMAR, Mo., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman last night accepted the Democratic nomination for vice-president in a colorful ceremony at his birthplace here in a speech warning the United States against choosing for president "a man who lacks experience."

The Missouri senator, named last month at Chicago as President Roosevelt's running mate in the November elections, devoted almost his entire 18-minute speech to praise of the country in its efforts to make a permanent peace was "very definitely in midstream," and cautioned against entrusting "the negotiation of the peace of the world to those who are not familiar with world affairs."

Col. Smellie Visitor Here

"I am happy to be back renewing acquaintances with members of the boards and nurses of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada," Col. Elizabeth Smellie, CBE, RRC, L.D., former matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps' Nursing Sisters' Division, and now chief superintendent of Victorian Order of Nurses, said Wednesday in an interview with The Edmonton Bulletin. She was with the VON prior to the war.

Col. Smellie, who has not been in the city for five years, said there are several new developments in the work of the order but owing to the scarcity of fully qualified nurses, due to the war, it is impossible as yet to open new centres. The work of the order has greatly increased in the war years and although there are many more mothers who have their babies in hospital, the work of the nurses continues as each mother is attended when she arrives home again from hospital.

"Canada has every reason to be proud of her nursing services overseas and at home," Col. Smellie said. She went overseas in 1943 with the idea of linking the nursing services overseas with those at home. The nursing sisters who enlisted here have become part of an all Canadian nursing formation overseas.

Col. Smellie visited every Canadian hospital in the British Isles and saw every Canadian nursing sister, and renewed acquaintances with British nurses whom she knew and who were busy with post war plans. She found the relationships between the British, Canadian and American nursing services most cordial.

FIRST GREAT WAR

As assistant to the matron-in-chief during the First Great War, she noticed changes in this war's nursing services—mainly that dieticians, physiotherapists and occupational therapists are active during this war, having enlisted in the nursing services.

Another difference is that although the nursing sisters wear the traditional blue in England, at the battle fronts they wear battle dress the same as the soldiers.

Col. Smellie helped to organize the Canadian Women's Army Corps. When asked about her 60th birthday party last March, she said she just asked everyone she met, starting at 30 guests and ending up with 175 and she said it was such a happy event for her.

The board of the VON is entertaining at a tea party in the Macdonald hotel Thursday afternoon for Col. Smellie who will meet old friends, members of the Overseas Nursing Sisters' Association, of which she is a member. These nurses were overseas in the last war.

303 Ships Allocated to Imperial Order

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A total of 303 ships of the Royal Canadian Navy have been allocated to the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire for adoption by chapters from the Yukon to Prince Edward Island, it was announced today.

IODE chapters will supply these vessels with gramophones, washing machines, games and sports equipment. The ships include aircraft carriers, destroyers, frigates, corvettes, fairmiles, motor launches, sea-going tugs, gatevessels and submarines.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert M. Blackstock spent last week-end at Buck Horn ranch, Pincher Creek. They were accompanied by their son, Capt. G. M. Blackstock, and Mr. Blackstock's brother, Walter M. Blackstock, of Trinidad.

Canadian Army Opens Homelike Bureau for Wives of Soldiers

By MARGARET ECKER

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(CP)—British girls will not be impressed with a line about a million-dollar gopher ranch in Toronto or a family manor house in Saskatchewan, now that the Canadian Army in England has opened a Canadian Wives Bureau. Workmen are still hammering in the big headquarters on King Charles II street, but already enquiries have flooded the office and Lt. Col. A. D. Clarke, MC, admitted, "These premises are too small for all the work we have to do."

The purpose of the bureau, he went on, is to give the 20,000 English women who have married Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen, any information they want about Canada. The secondary purpose is to arrange passage for these women and their more than 8,000 children and to conduct them to Canada.

"Eventually we hope to send workers of the Canadian Red Cross back to Canada with each party," the colonel explained.

When 200 British wives and their children departed for Canada recently, the British Red Cross looked after them until they got on board ship.

Attractive furniture and reproductions of Canadian paintings were being arranged in the large, pleasant lounge, to which Col. Clarke hopes the wives will come to learn about their new homeland.

Staff members will talk to the women and answer their questions and clubs will be formed here and throughout England for the women.

TO ARRANGE LECTURES

Two field workers, Eileen Griffin of Vancouver and Mrs. Margaret Lee of Toronto, who was formerly Canadian Red Cross commandant in England, will arrange lectures on Canada for the wives, as well as demonstrations of Canadian cookery. At present, they're working on the cataloguing of the Canadian dependants in the British Isles. But it's a job for Hercules, since men in the Canadian Army alone are marrying between 400 and 800 English girls each month.

So far, the army is the greatest supporter of the marriage-across-the-ocean movement. Only 2,000 RCAF and 300 navy men have married over here.

"The biggest problem we have is to give the girls a true picture of Canada," said the tall, kindly colonel, whose own background gives him the viewpoint of both sides of the Atlantic. He's a Canadian who as a professional soldier has spent most of his life in Britain, but his mother lives in Victoria and he has a brother in Calgary.

The pamphlet called, "Welcome to War Brides," has an introduction written by the Countess of Athlone and describes as well as the country Canadian food, clothing, climate and activities.

"So many of the Canadian soldiers left Canada when they were very young," said Col. Clarke, "they remember Canada as a land of sport, a huge playground, where no question of work spoils their fun. They've passed that picture on to their wives and it is important that the girls be given a more realistic view if they're not going to be disillusioned."

Also under the bureau is the Civilian Repatriation Section in Piccadilly which helps the wives and children secure passports, visas, and exit permits, as well as ship passage when possible.

Scotland's population totalled 4,483,000 in 1931.

One of the most delicious ways in which corn may be used, is to use it when it has not yet fully matured. It is then called green corn, or corn on the cob, and should be prepared by boiling, steaming or roasting.

I find that the best way to use corn on the cob is to make it the principal food at the meal, using it as though it were a starch, and combining salad and cooked vegetables with it. Used in this manner, it will provide an excellent meal. I do not advise that you add any kind of acid to the same meal, as the corn contains enough starch so that this is an undesirable mixture.

Use three or four small ears of the fresh corn, seasoned with butter, and add a liberal amount of spinach, asparagus, string beans, celery or lettuce, taking any of these vegetables desired and you will find you have a delicious and satisfying meal.

No matter how much you chew the corn, you will discover part of it will leave the body while still in the undigested state, because the digestive juices have not been able to penetrate the cellulose covering which surrounds the milky interior.

Many times corn may be used as a corrective for constipation when the constipated state is due chiefly to the over-use of concentrated foods which supply little bulk of roughage. In such cases, the use of a generous amount of green corn will provide plenty of bulk and this will fill up the large intestine sufficiently so as to encourage normal peristalsis.

The green corn contains a large amount of soft, pliable cellulose which is only partly digested in the intestines, but is of value because it supplies bulk which is filling but not irritating.

Those with mild cases of constipation due to faulty diet, might try using corn on the cob once a day during the summertime, to see if they obtain successful results.

Combine it with cooked vegetables and with salad vegetables such as celery, lettuce and cucumber and use this as a complete meal by itself, either at noon or in the evening. You may find that three or four small ears of corn will provide beneficial results in banishing the constipation which is so often the fore-runner of many diseased states.

By cutting the milky corn kernels from the cob and adding milk and cream, you will find you have a delicious soup which will provide a welcome change.

One good point to keep in mind in selecting fresh corn for the table is to try to obtain it as soon as possible after it comes from the field. Try to choose those ears having bright fresh-looking husks and your cooked corn will then supply the most tempting flavor.

If you raise corn yourself or in your own garden then you are indeed fortunate, for the corn may be gathered the day it is to be used.

Fresh corn is one of the most appetizing of all our summer foods

Bracken Foresees Election Between November and June

WINNIPEG, Aug. 31.—(CP)—John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said in an interview here yesterday that he believed the next federal general election will be held "sometime between November and June."

Asked where he would seek a seat in the House of Commons, the Progressive Conservative leader said he "didn't hear that question."

Mr. Bracken has just completed a tour of British Columbia and northern Alberta and will return to Ottawa Thursday night.

Agreement on Taxes Becomes Effective

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(CP)—A proclamation bringing into force an agreement between Canada and the United States for the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion in the case of estate taxes and succession duties appeared yesterday in an issue of the Canada Gazette.

The agreement was passed during the last session of parliament.

Before the Magistrate

John Diffley pleaded guilty to snatching a purse containing $65 from a city visitor, as the latter walked along 109 avenue, one evening recently. He acknowledged having been in city police court, and being placed on suspended sentence for other offences, about a month ago. On Thursday he was sentenced by Magistrate A. I. Miller, K.C. to nine months' imprisonment with hard labor.

Diffley, the court was told, previously had admitted conspiring with two juveniles to rob the visitor of her purse. The accused seized the bag and the trio fled, followed by the owner and several other persons.

The money was then split in three ways and the trio journeyed to Calgary. There, they were picked up by RCMP officers and returned to Edmonton. Asked why he hadn't stayed on the job that had been found for him, Diffley replied he didn't like working. The two juveniles will be dealt with in juvenile court.

Samuel E. Clark was found sleeping in a chicken pen at Namsao by a farmer who called RCMP. When questioned, the accused said he had no national registration certificate. He was fined $10 or 14 days and was told to get a certificate immediately.

Mrs. Beatrice Williams pleaded guilty to a breach of the traffic act in the city and was fined $5 or seven days. While driving on 102 avenue, she passed another car at the intersection of 99 street and became involved in an accident, the court was informed.

Five other persons were "among those present," George Plant, William Kenaley, Joseph Colwell, Elsie Lowe and Margaret Bennett, or Todd. All pleaded guilty. Plant was assessed $50 or six weeks, while the women, who acknowledged previous convictions for the same offense, were each sentenced to three months with hard labor. Kenaley was fined $40 or two months.

and provides a wholesome starch addition to the diet. The starch content of this green corn seldom reaches a percentage greater than one-fifth of the total bulk. Fresh corn contains less than 20 per cent of starch, giving us a summer food which is very palatable without being very starchy. When correctly used, it may well be one of the real treats of the warm-weather season.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on back of paper, or words. Letters must not exceed 10 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1133 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Growing Belief War May End in Next 35 Days

France, Italy and Russia, is retreating—in some places in headlong rout—without the protection of its Luftwaffe in the air and increasingly harassed by snowballing guerrilla movements within its lines.

2,000,000 LEFT
Many additional thousands never will live to reach the Reich borders. The best approximation of the fighting strength of the Wehrmacht in the field today is 2,000,000 compared with 8,000,000 in 1940 after the amazing German blitzkrieg victories.

Two years of uninterrupted retreat have stripped the Germans of vast amounts of equipment including rail transport, gasoline and oil and industrial resources. They have plunged Nazis into a state of gloom so deep that they are frankly admitting that the Reich is facing the gravest situation in its history.

High Opinion

Allied high opinion, on the other hand, is reflected in statements like that of Prime Minister Churchill that the end of the conflict may come sooner than previously could have been expected and in that of Prime Minister Jan C. Smuts, an elder statesman with a vast knowledge of the over-all picture, that he was not last another year in Europe.

President Roosevelt has made similar utterances and Secretary of Navy James Forrestal, on his return from visit to the Mediterranean theatre, said the German army is ripe for revolt than the Nazi home front.

Generals Eisenhower and Montgomery said they are driving to finish the business quickly.

The last year has seen Germany suffer military, political and economic misfortunes including the liberation of Rome, Paris and Bucharest. The Nazis have been driven out of all but northern Italy and have lost more than three-fourths of France.

Hitler threw his forces into the low countries in May, 1940, with the exhortation: "The fight that begins today will decide the destiny of the German people for 1,000 years." The Germans marched across Europe, ruthlessly utilizing the fifth column, superior air power, armored speed, paratroops and gas-suppression of trouble behind the lines.

Colossal Blunder

He made his colossal blunder when he attacked the Russians in June, 1941, and an equally colossal mistake when he miscalculated the extent of Russian readiness. The Russians bled the wehrmacht weak in the vast spaces of Russia.

For Britain and the United States the first phase was a battle of production and inventive genius to build weapons to beat Germany and catch up on volume production. Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, turned America from a non-belligerent ally to an all-out enemy.

Lacerated to Bits

Invasion as inevitable as it was unbeatible struck in June. It was hardly more than two months old before the German Seventh Army was lacerated to bits and the 15th, drained by the demands of the Seventh for replacements to a mere skeleton army, was getting ready to flee north.

As this is written Allied tanks are less than a day's march from Belgium and not much more from Germany itself. German resistance after five years has dwindled to a senseless, random firing of winged explosives into Britain's home area in an effort to extort better peace terms—an effort which all Britons agree will result only in hardening Britain's determination to crush German aggression for all time.

Arrest Airman

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(CP)—LAC. Lewis Solomon, 23, attached to No. 6 training command, RCAF, in British Columbia, was arrested by Toronto police late yesterday on charge of automobile theft and careless driving. Police said Solomon had been absent without leave for the last two weeks.

At Early Meeting Churchill, F.D.R. May Map Armistice, Defeat of Japan

By The Canadian Press
Signs multiplied last night that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt are arranging another meeting soon to discuss the future of Germany and plans to step up the war against Japan.

Pesaro, Urbino Fall to Troops Of Eighth Army

By JAMES E. ROPER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press
ROME, Aug. 31.—British Eighth Army troops occupied the ancient renaissance cities of Pesaro on the Adriatic coast and Urbino, 19 miles inland, today and crossed the Roglia river to begin their long-awaited assault on the Germans' Gothic line.

Front dispatches reported that the Germans had abandoned the entire area along the Foglia river for 16 miles inland and withdrawn behind the line's steel and concrete fortifications. Heavy machine gun and rifle fire was encountered by Eighth Army patrols probing around the main forts and pillboxes of the German defense works.

SEAPORT TOWN
Polish tank units entered Pesaro, a seaport town with a pre-war population of some 22,000, on the right bank of the Foglia. The Gothic line, built by the Germans to defend the broad stretches of the Po valley northward, had its eastern anchor in the centuries-old art centre.

While the tank units occupied Pesaro, Polish units were sent across the Foglia and cleared the Germans from the north bank over the entire 16 mile stretch from the sea to the river's bend south of Monte Calvo.

CLEARED OF NAZIS
Other Eighth Army troops, meanwhile, struck two and one-half miles across the Metauro river to take Urbino, ancient town with a population of approximately 6,000, situated 19 miles southwest of Pesaro. The area seven miles southwest of Urbino was reported cleared of enemy resistance, but patrols found Germans in San Angelo, five miles further west.

THORHILD TEACHER
Serving Overseas
According to FO. Tommy Atkinson of Thorhild, it is more than a coincidence that many navigators in the RCAF are ex-school teachers. He was a teacher in peacetime, became a navigator, and has finished an operational tour with the Thunderbird squadron overseas.

"The nature of the work makes it a logical air crew trade," he explained. "We're always poring over books, charts and maps and doing rapid calculations. There are lots of us school teachers wearing the navigator's badge."

Flying Officer Atkinson, whose schooldays go back to a little two-room building in a rural school near Waskatenau, north-east of Edmonton, "the senior room," he recalls, is rated one of the best navigators with the Thunderbirds. He figures his most satisfactory trip was an eight-hour job in Friedrichshafen. "We were never more than a mile off course," he said.

Atkinson only looked at one target during his tour. That was over Düsseldorf, he recalled. "I peered out and thought somebody was brewing a witches' cauldron. There were scarecrows, searchlights, flak bursts, fires, explosions and flames all over the place. I think I ducked down to my table. Anyway there's too much work to do to waste time sightseeing."

Falls From Truck: Man Is Injured

Albert Goldthorpe, 11414 81 street, 61-year-old employee of the Brown Fruit Company, was taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital about 11 a.m. Thursday in a semi-conscious condition, after he had fallen from one of the company's trucks to the pavement at 104 street and 103 avenue.

According to city police, Goldthorpe was riding on the back of the truck which was operated by Oswald S. Boyce, 158 street and 100 avenue, south on 104 street. As the vehicle was turning onto 103 avenue, Goldthorpe, who had been hanging onto a case of fruit, lost his balance and fell to the pavement, landing on his back and striking his head.

A lad, said to have been riding at the rear of the truck at the time, notified the driver of the accident. Goldthorpe was taken to hospital by Jack Hayes' ambulance. The extent of his injuries was not ascertained, nor could he be interviewed, police stated.

Army Personnel Get Decorations

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—(CP)—The defence department announced last night the award of 268 decorations and long-service decorations to members of the Canadian army serving at home and abroad. The list included the Canadian Efficiency Decoration, Canadian Efficiency Medal, first and second clasps to the Canadian Efficiency Medal and the Canadian Medal for long service and good conduct (military).

Rouen People Toss Flowers To Canadians

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN ROUEN, Aug. 31.—(CP Cable)—Canadian infantry from Ontario and the Maritimes entered historic Rouen today in drizzling rain and the city reacted like a little Paris.

French Maquis were all over the city, guiding the Canadians through the streets of this ancient Seine port. Civilians poured into the streets in hundreds waving the Canadians on and tricolors were thrust from every window as street after street was cleared of light German opposition.

The men, women and children proudly paraded with red, white and blue rosettes—a liberation emblem they had held ready for this day. They gave the rosettes to the Canadians, tossed flowers in their path, and hailed their muddy, sodden liberators with wild abandon.

I went into Rouen yesterday on the heels of an eastern Ontario infantry battalion which had plucked the streets of this ancient Seine port. Civilians poured into the streets in hundreds waving the Canadians on and tricolors were thrust from every window as street after street was cleared of light German opposition.

ROUTE INTO ROUEN
The route into Rouen was up the road to Boos, then straight along the main highway into the city. In our scout car the driver, Gen. Norman Beattie of Mount Dennis, Ont., and I whisked along roads with infantry and tanks which were rushing forward for advances northeast of Rouen.

Some infantry were marching, others were riding on tanks, in vehicles or in captured German trucks—using anything they could get.

We belted down the wide highway. French people lined the road, cheering madly as we passed through the villages of Notre Dame de Franqueville, Mesnil Ennard and Blesseville Bon Secours.

One mile outside the main part of the city we came to the headquarters of an eastern Ontario battalion where Maj. F. W. Lander of Brighton, Ont., said "Sure, we have troops right into the centre of the city and they're now mopping up."

Lieut. George Jodoin of Cornwall, Ont., took the first patrol of the battalion into the city.

LOOKED LIKE HOLIDAY
As we entered Rouen the crowds were thicker on the streets and it looked like a holiday, with tricolors fluttering from every house. More infantry were marching up the highway and Bren carriers and jeeps were going in too. We wheeled round a bend on a hill and there below was Rouen proper.

Spread along the Seine under a thin mist, with the spire of Rouen Cathedral pointing up through the haze, it looked like an evening. This was the city where Joan of Arc was condemned and burned, the city of La Salle, explorer of Canada and the Mississippi. Now Canadian troops were liberating it.

As we looked at this spectacle of Rouen a shot rang out a few hundred yards away, and then another. We "buttoned up" our scout car and hustled down the hill into the main part of the city.

Bank clearings through the Edmonton Clearing House for the month of August totalled $99,453,086.53 as against $36,176,575.83 for the corresponding month of last year. For the week ended Thursday last

Water—Precious Treasure to Fighters on South Pacific Isles

Order of the Bath

Ship-Building Centre Celebrates

Famed as a great wooden vessel construction centre at the time of the American civil war, the town of Lauzon, Quebec, is also tremendously proud of its shipbuilding activities in the present war, of its two yards employing well over 5,000 workers, and of the sleek fighting ships and cargo vessels they turn out. So, when the frigate H.M.C.S. Lauzon was launched at the local yard of the G. T. Davis & Sons division of the Quebec Shipyard Limited, the whole town turned out for the event. The ship was blessed by the cure of Lauzon, and sponsored by the mayor's wife. Customarily, this yard does not outfit frigates, but in the case of the Lauzon, it proudly insisted that it be allowed to turn out the complete vessel. The result is shown in the above picture of H.M.C.S. Lauzon, as she slides down the ways, her pennants flying, almost ready to join the invasion fleets.

Due For a Date With "Davy Jones"

Crew members of a German submarine arrows cringe around the conning tower of their craft in an effort to protect themselves from the attack of Army Mitchell and Navy Liberator bombers. A few minutes after this picture was taken, the U-boat was sent to the bottom.

One of the favorite weapons of the Royal Canadian Artillery in their battering of enemy positions in the Falaise sector is the 5.5—shown here blazing away at enemy positions.

Canadians Clean Up a Hot Spot in Falaise

This series of pictures shows dramatically what happens when Allied patrols moving forward on the heels of retreating Germans run into nests of snipers left behind to hold up their advance. The pictures were made as Canadians entered Falaise in France. At top the Canadian patrol is moving down an outlying street of the town keeping close watch for snipers hidden in the battered houses. Near an intersection German bullets began to whine and the infantrymen called up a tank to help clear the area; centre left shows how a strong point was built with the tank as a shield. One of the Canucks was nicked by a Nazi sniper and at centre right his comrades pick him up and dash out of range so that medical aid can be given. Lower picture supplies the climax: the German pocket has been wiped out but four Canadians are casualties and first aid is given by the remainder of the patrol while a jeep ambulance comes up to take away the wounded. This tableau has been repeated time after time as Canadians moved through French towns and villages, driving the Germans back, but encountering bitter and often fanatical resistance.

Their Ship Comes In

Australian war brides and fiancées of American servicemen—296 of them—wave happily as they arrive at San Francisco. With them came some 75 babies who will become Americans upon receipt of second papers by their mothers after being in the U.S. six months.

The Shermans Move Into Position

A long column of Shermans roar over bank routes, kicking up clouds of dust, as they move into new positions in Normandy.

His Fuehrer's Face

Hitler's recent order for the army to use the Nazi salute hasn't inspired much respect for Der Fuehrer, judging by the German war prisoner pictured above. With a piece of cloth for a moustache, he has no qualms about burlesquing Hitler for the amusement of his Yank guard at left.

Jeep Goes Honeymooning

After wedding ceremony in St. Augustine Chapel, Bari, Italy, this slicked-up jeep carried the bride and groom, WAC Cpl. Florence L. Bauer of Lyndhurst, O., and Capt. Wilson W. Hopkins, Jr., of Durham, N.C., to a mountain camp where they spent five-day furlough honeymoon. G.I. paint job added white sidewall tire effect.

Rodney Shells Blast Nazis

The valiant and venerable 35,000-ton British battleship Rodney swooped down upon the Channel Island of Alderney and poured 75 rounds of one-ten 16-inch shells into a Nazi battery. The Rodney, one of the world's heaviest armed ships, is a veteran of the Norwegian campaign, bombed Italy, and blasted Gen and Le Havre in the Normandy invasion.
